Beginning at the Foundation.
The progressive people of the parish were anxious to reconstruct and adorn the ancient church, and the senior warden wrote to the bishop about it.

"There are but two things to be done in St. Gregory's," wrote the bishop in reply. "Let the sexton keep it clean, and the parson keep it full."—Youth's Companion.

Eighteenth Century Dandles.
In the early part of the eighteenth century it was a common thing in London for a man of fashion to spend several hours a day with his valet, among the many quaint operations being "the starching of the beard and the proper perfuming of garments, the painting of the face and anointing with oils, tinctures, quinquessences and pomatums." It is even said that some of the dandles of the time bathed in wine and milk "for the preservation of their complexions and the rejuvenation of their energies."

no cause for worry.
Husband—That is the limit! You've ordered two new dresses! Don't you know that we are already head over ears in debt?
Wife—Yes, I know, but the dress-maker doesn't.—Boston Transcript.
