YOUR KIDNEYS

Stayton Residents Must Learn The Importance of Keeping Them Well

Perfect health means that every organ of the body is performing its functions properly.

People health cannot be enjoyed if the kidneys are weak and disordered. Thousands testify that Doan's Kidney Pills have a reviving action on weak kidneys.

What this remedy has done in so many cases of this kind is the best proof of its merit.

Read the following. It's testimony gratefully given by a resident of this locality:

Mrs. M. B. Rexford, 335 N. Eighteenth St., Corvallis, Ore., says: "I was all run down and sick all over with malaria. Mr. back nearly killed me at times, it pained so. I could hardly get up or down, as I was so stiff and sore. My kidneys were congested and inflamed. The kidney secretions were unnatural and this trouble made me weak and nervous. I had no ambition to do anything. Three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills practically cured me of backache and put my kidneys in good, working order."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Rexford had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

SCANDAL.

Be too broad minded to encourage the sin of scandal. When a gossip begins to relate some scandal in your presence say to him, "Come; let us go to that person and see if the story is true!" Hannah More, the English author, always followed that course, and it never failed to work.

Blow of a Whale's Tail.

Ask ten persons what is the strongest animal force in the world and nine will reply that it is the blow of a lion's paw. The tenth man may express the belief, based on experience, that it is the kick of a Missouri mule.

As a matter of fact, the blow of a whale's tail is incomparably the strongest animal force. A blow delivered by a full grown whale placed at just the right distance would smash in the side of a wooden ship as though it were an eggshell.

The second strongest force is the kick of a giraffe, and this terrible kick is adequate protection to these otherwise helpless animals. The stroke of the lion's paw comes third on the list.

Goat's Time Honored Calling.

In the Farm and Fireside is an essay on the goat, which says among other things:

"The goat is a great aid in keeping tin cans, brickbats, scrap iron and other rubbish from accumulating around the farm, as he eats all of these things as fast as they appear, and he would be a greater success in this way if he wasn't so ambitious. But the goat is ambitious, and he keeps branching out and increasing his capacity and diet until he takes in the harness and buggy cushions and machinery and carpets and the knobs of doors. He can strip a long line of clothes faster than the best laundryman in the business."

Arctic Rock Weed.

Drifting down from Alaska comes the greatest of all sea plants, the arctic rock weed, that grows in shape like a huge ship's hawser and sometimes with branches 500 feet long. There are no signs of leaves, but at intervals of a fathom or so a knob, for all the world like the buoy on a drift net, grows around the stem, aiding, as does the buoy, in keeping the plant afloat and creating the impression that some fishing nets have gone astray.—New York World.

A Fearful Fate.

The following is a proclamation made at the Market Cross of Inverary, Scotland, some hundred years ago: "Ta hoy! Te tither a-hoy! Ta hoy three times! An' ta hoy-whist! By command of his Majesty, King George, an' her Grace to Duke o' Argyll: "If anybody is found fishing about to lock, or below to lock, afore to lock, or ahint to lock, in to lock, or on to lock, aroun' to lock, or about to lock, she's to be persecutit wi' three persecutions: first she's to be burnt, syne she's to be drowned, an' then to be hounet, an' if she ever comes back she's to be persecutit wi' a far waur death. "God save to King, an' her Grace to Duke o' Argyll!"

Cactus Stems.

The thick stem of the cactus is a provision of nature to reduce the loss of water by evaporation to a minimum.

Dogs and Fleas.

If your dogs are troubled with fleas a very simple way to get rid of the pests is to provide beds of fresh cedar shavings or, better, cedar excelsior in the kennels or wherever the dogs sleep. The scent is not at all unpleasant to the dogs, but is abhorrent to the fleas. When a dog's coat gets thoroughly scented not only do the fleas leave him while asleep, but they will not jump upon him when he is out during the day.

Gehlen's Store

We have arranged to give you better service from now on. We are going to run our own delivery. Goods will be delivered in the afternoon as well as in the forenoon. If you have any eggs, oil cans or anything else you want to sell or send to the store, you may phone and we will send the wagon to get them. You may also give your orders to the driver, as he has only one store to deliver for and he can give them the best attention.

We will also state a few prices, compare these with others and be convinced that you are buying right.

GETTING SENSE.

There comes a clear day when one realizes that clothes are to keep the weather off you; that food is to give health; that home is shelter and inspiration; that, aside from being clean and inoffensive, one's personal appearance does not signify much; that the main thing in life is to be going toward the goal of your ideals. That isn't getting old; it's getting sense. From then on Time is not master, but friend.—Cellier's.

Helpful Advice.

"Business is quiet with me."
"Where are you now?"
"Oh, I'm still at the old stand."
"Well, I wouldn't be so still. Make a noise like an advertiser."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

The Great Trouble.

"It is every woman's duty to keep young as long as possible," she said.
"Yes," he admitted, "but the great trouble is that so many young women insist on keeping young after it is impossible."—Chicago Herald.

Legitimate Occupation.

"That beauty doctor is fooling those pretty girls taking his treatment. He ought to be arrested."
"His is a recognized business; he's merely grafting peaches."—Baltimore American.

An Aviation Question.

What character in the Bible ought to know most about flying?
Aaron ought.

Loquacious France.

The Frenchman feels compelled to express his thoughts, to make it objective, to communicate it. Thought means little to a Frenchman unless he writes it or speaks it. We are a people who, when we have something to say, insist upon saying it. Sometimes we are accused of not even waiting until we have something to say. We are often called loquacious. Possibly we are. But I am not sure that we should resent the criticism. Athens was loquacious. But compare her winged words with the heavy laconics of Sparta and ask yourself to which of the two the world is most indebted.—Anatole Le Braz in Outlook.
