VALADICTORY

It is with feelings of sadness and regret that we make the announcement that this issue of the Mail will be the last in which toward Lost Lake. we will be in any way connected with in the publishing business in Stayton. In other words we have sold The Mail to Mr. C. E. Daugherty, editor of the Stayton Standard, who will combine the two papers under the name of The Mail.

Although Mr. Daugherty has been in Stayton but a few months, he has made many friends and is a gentleman of probity and honor. We bespeak for him the friendship and support of the many subscribers and advertisers who have so faithfully stood by the Mail in its twenty-three years of varied fortune.

When we arrived in Stayton, the school here, although good as far as it went, did not go far enough; and we have seen it grow and expand until today "Stayton High" is the most important factor in the city. We helped to play our humble part in the advancement of Stayton's educational interests and for that if for no other reason we count the time spent here well spent.

We have tried our very best to play the game absolutely st unre, and when we made mistakes they were unintentional.

their help and support, our subscribers for their promptness, our correspondents for their sticking to the Stayton Mail, and our enemies for the zest they gave to the game of life. Sincerely,

With the danger of war hanging over the country, we are brought face to face with the value of our industrial plants and railroads to the government. Conservative legislation for their protection should be the order of the day.

the British bids were made, but the pub-lic is entitled to know the facts upon which we ourselves bid for this work.

Two years ago we took contracts to make 4,200 14-inch shells at a price of $1,515,000. Up to now not a single shell has been accepted by the Government, although we have expended, in wages, materials, etc., on these orders $522,881, and we have not received a SINGLE DOLLAR on these contracts.

In addition, a literal interpretation of the contract might make us liable for penalties amounting to $678,016.

ing no other basis, we bid for 16-inch shells approximately the same rate per pound as that which the Navy Depart-ment actually awarded a 14-inch shell contract one year ago.

Fear of the Tree.

The first experiments at tree planting in London were sternly discouraged. A. D. Webster tells us in Town Planting that when Loudon built his house in Porchester terrace, Bayswater-this was in the thirties-he planted a summe by the side of the path opposite. The action was met by prompt and triumphant opposition on the part of the district surveyor, whose complaint was that it was "likely to shade the pathway and keep it damp." In the end the tree had to go.

The Inwardness.

"Please, ma'am," said the small boy on the doorstep, "ma says kin she borrer a can o' mustard."

Aside from the direct interest to the farmers, many benefits are derived from a sugar factory. It employs from 400 to 500 men from October until February, turning the unproductive time of 500 men into productive time and at the low estimate of $50 permonth would mean an increase of wealth to the extent of $25,000 a month.

Southern Pacific, at its own expense, is maintaining complete patrol system for tunnels and bridges as well as its stores of supplies which might be destroyed and hamper operation of road when needed for rapid transportation of troops and supplies.

And now a bill is before Congress to prevent launching any vessels for foreigh owners. This act should kill American shipbuilding as successfully as La Follett's Seaman's act has killed American shipping and both industries would then be dead enough to satisfy the most radical politician and labor aggitator. Of course, our workmen can go to a foreign country to get jobs after the war unless a bill is passed to prevent that.

Theory and Practice.

Here is a good story from the collection of a German school inspector. The pupils were being examined on the subject of personal hygiene. A boy was asked, "What have you to do in order to keep your teeth sound and white?" "Clean them," was the prompt reply. "When ought you to clean them?" "Morning, noon and night." "What are they to be cleaned with?" "With a toothbrush." "Very good. Have you a toothbrush?" "No, sir." "Has your father a toothbrush?" "No, sir." "Has your mother a toothbrush?" "No, sir." But how do you know about the use of toothbrushes then?" "We sell them, sir.'

A solution of borax in warm water will quickly remove the dirt and may be applied either by means of an eyecup or by a small swab of cotton, particular attention being given to wiping out the inside of the lower eyelids, where the bulk of the dust will collect. Besides cleansing the eye, this solution will be found decidedly soothing and to allay the natural inflamma-
