Girls' National Honor Guard

A movement is on foot to organize a Girls' National Honor Guard in Stayton. There will be a meeting some time next week at which the backers of the movement hope to have Miss Danforth present. Miss Danforth is State manager.
 The purposes of such an organization is first aid to the wounded, which includes learning emergency treatment in case of accident, cutting and rolling bandages, preparing sponges and towels, how to sterilize instruments, correct knowledge of various bandaging methods. Also first aid to families and first aid in general utility requiring knowledge of driving, understanding automobiles, riding, swimming, agriculture, etc. Space will not permit us this week to print the pledge that is taken but suffice it to say that in addition to the useful things mentioned above, allegiance to the flag and patriotism are two of the strong points brought out.
 The guard is not limited to young women and girls but the older women are gladly welcomed. Miss Olive Bassett ably assisted by others are the prime movers in organizing the guard in Stayton.
