OUR BUSINESS HOUSES

Articles Dealing with the Business Interests of Stayton

Business Men of Stayton are on a Par With the Same Class of Men in Other Localities

Five years ago C. A. Luthy came to our city and seeing what he thought was an opportunity for a man of his ability, he bought out the jewelry store of E. Roy & Son, and has conducted the business ever since. He has a store of which the entire community can be proud and the wisdom of his choice has been proven by the amount of business done. You may search the cities and larger towns for a store of this character but you will not find one with a more complete line of goods than is carried by Mr. Luthy, you will find larger stores carrying larger quantities but they will be located in much bigger communities and catering to much larger volume of trade than can be developed here until there is greater growth and development.

For completeness, neatness and service it will be impossible to find a place of business that will surpass our jewelry store. The proprietor is an expert on watch and clock repairing and this branch of his business along with his store business is growing.

Having established a reputation for fair and honest dealing and at moderate prices for both his goods and repair work Mr. Luthy is enjoying a growing mail order business from these communities adjoining ours. Mr. Luthy is a young, energetic and wide-awake business man and deserving of success.

New Office Building

The Brown-Petzel Lumber Co. is now occupying their new office, having moved in Wednesday. The building is 20x46 feet the front office occupies 16x20 feet, the remainder of the building being used as a store room for doors, windows and roofing. They have a fireproof cement vault 8 foot square giving them ample room for records, papers etc., that they may want to preserve.

The office is one of the lightest and most commodious it has been the writers privilege to visit. The walls for six feet from the floor are finished with Fir veneer with dark oak finish, while the remainder of the wall and ceiling is finished with Beaver board. The cream color softening the light and thus giving a pleasing effect to the entire interior. This is more evidence of the progress this firm is making.

"Red Hand" Postcard Received Here

One day last week the Brown-Petzel Lumber Co. received a postcard on the top of which were the words "Three days more" beneath this a hand in red followed by the words "We mean business." Of course the company was in the dark in regard to the source and meaning of the warning. Sunday's Oregonian stated that cards of this kind had been received by several firms interested in the lumber business.

About 50 of these were received in and about Tacoma. The cards are plain government cards with the inscription placed on them with a pen.

The police of the coast cities have been on the watch for suspicious looking characters, and the cards have been causing considerable excitement in different localities. A few days after the arrival of the warning cards, other cards were received which developed the fact that the cards were simply an advertising scheme.

F. A. Schubinger, former cheese maker here, who was taken in charge several weeks ago for having intoxicating liquor in his possession was declared not guilty by the court last week. It seems that he had several barrels of apple juice that he was allowing to turn to vinegar, and when the court was presented the evidence, he was discharged and his juice returned.

We have moved our office to the home of Mrs. Sarah Cox, one block north of Mr. Elder's, will answer calls for Drugless or optical work. Phone 1252 or leave orders at Lancefield Shoe store. A. C. Eaton Naturopath and Optician.

Stanley A. Starr is a Portland visitor this week.

Jolly Entertainers Please Staytonites

Until the arrival of H. M. Draper, and his crowd of "Jolly Entertainers" this writer had never heard of the "little town of Des Moines, Wash., situated on the sound between Tacoma and Seattle." The people of that place may give Mr. Draper credit for placing their town on the map. The town is the location of a home for homeless children, kept by Mr. and Mrs. Draper, and conducted on a unique plan, in that it is entirely self supporting. The population of the home varies in accordance as the children come and go, but about 24 are looked after at present. They are all educated in the common school branches as well as in music. Mr. Draper is a thoroughly educated musician and teaches the children the fundamentals. Their band music is excellent, considering the ages of the children, who range in years from five to twenty. Miss Margaret Guglielmo, who has been with Mr. and Mrs. Draper the past fifteen years, and who is the oldest of any of the musicians, plays the trombone exceptionally well, and has a very pleasing voice and personality. She assists Mrs. Draper teaching. Many of the other children show decided talent and all demonstrate excellent and careful training.

No donations are asked, but in towns where they present their concerts the town people are requested to take into their homes such of the little folks as they care to accommodate, and in Stayton nearly all were taken. All proved little ladies and gentlemen, whom it was a pleasure to entertain.

The Mail considers the Draper school a worthy enterprise, and deserving of much credit, in that it gives the children a knowledge that they are not dependents and are helping by their youthful talents to pay their way through life. They were greeted by a crowded house both evenings.

Obituary

H. W. Terman passed away peacefully, at his home in West Stayton April 27, 1917 after a long lingering illness, being confined to his bed most of the time for nearly two years.

Mr. Terman was born in Arthur Ont. Canada April 5th 1855. He was married to Miss Laura E. Coker Sept. 3rd 1891. He with his wife came to Oregon in 1893 locating in Halsey where they resided until 1906, when they moved to Portland, where they resided until 1914, when they moved to West Stayton where they resided until his death. He leaves a wife and three children, Walter F. of Cal. Howard and Dorothy of West Stayton.

Elder H. W. White, of Salem, conducted the funeral services at the family residence on Saturday evening where friends and neighbors gathered to pay their last tribute of respect. The body was taken to Halsey for burial on Sunday under the Auspices of the Woodman Lodge of which he was a member. A large concourse of friends followed him to the cemetery, with beautiful floral offerings.

Dr. Hobson returned from Portland Wednesday morning. He did not sign up for the army as he would be placed in the medical reserve with the time for his call into the service indefinite. —Seio Tribune.

Former Stayton Girl Marries.

Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Morton of 292 North Church street announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Florence Morton which took place Thursday to Gale Wilson Church at the parsonage of the Christian church in Vancouver, Wash., with Rev. R. L. Dunn officiating.

The young couple had set their marriage for June but as the groom had decided to enlist they brought their date forward. To come within the statutes of military law which prohibits married men from joining the ranks of the soldiers, the groom enlisted before their marriage and then was joined by his bride-to-be in Vancouver.

Mr. Church has served in the California national guard and although he had been honorably discharged, yet when the call came again he became eager to re-enlist from Oregon. He is now a member of the signal corps of the regular army. He expects to be sent to San Diego soon. Mrs. Church has joined the Red Cross as a nurse and is also ready to go wherever she is called. She is now in Vancouver with her husband but will probably return to Salem upon his departure.

The bride's father, Rev. Morton, was formerly the pastor of the Court street Christian church in Salem and is now serving in Prescott, Wash. Upon finishing school, she taught near Turner. As an attention to Mrs. Church upon her approaching marriage, the members of La Arca club of which she was drill master, recently complemented her with a pretty party and presented her with a handsome cut glass gift. —Salem Statesman.

Rev. Morton was for a time pastor of the Christian church here and the family resided in Stayton a number of years. The many friends of the bride will join the Mail in best wishes.

May Party

The home of Miss Elnor Willing was the scene of an enjoyable May party Tuesday evening given by Miss Willing. The evening was spent in progressive 500, G. R. Munkers winning the first prize and Leo Willing the consolation prize. Music and singing added to the pleasure of those present.

Dainty refreshments were served, the table being beautifully decorated with may baskets.

Those present were: D. M. Doll and wife; Clara, Anna and Joe Spaniol; Freda Allis; Carrie Palmer; Glen and Bert Munkers and Stella Wagner of Sublimity.

Mrs. Henry Siegmund and daughter of Fern Ridge were trading in Stayton Wednesday.

Engle Shutt and wife accompanied by John Zuber of Sublimity were Stayton callers yesterday.
