Clarence Anderson Killed in Arizona

Thursday morning word was received here of a serious accident that happened to Clarence Anderson, Wednesday, May 2nd, which resulted in his death at Jerome, Arizona. He had been employed in a mine, and had just returned to work after 37 days in the hospital. The injury that resulted in his death was caused by his being run over by the ore train at the mine. The accident occurred at 10:30 a. m., and he passed away at 7 p. m. The telegram received here says "he was conscious and cheerful to the last." The funeral was held Saturday, the 5th, and burial was made at Jerome.

Clarence M. Anderson was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Anderson, of this place, and was born at Union Hill in 1875, being 42 years of age at the time of his death. He lived for a number of years with his parents in Stayton, later going to Portland to reside. He moved to Arizona for the benefit of the health of one of his children. Besides his parents, he leaves a wife and four children, and three sisters, Mrs. Stella Ray, of Lebanon, Mrs. Bertha Rhodes, of Baker and Mrs. Roxie McLaughlin of Portland.

The bereaved parents have the sympathy of many friends in their sorrow.

Golden Wedding Anniversary

Last Saturday afternoon in the city of Salem Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Goode celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. They are the parents of ten children all of whom are living and all but two were present at this joyous occasion also about fifteen grandchildren participated in the festivities. Mr. and Mrs. Goode are the parents of V. A. Goode of Stayton. An excellent program was rendered and the elderly couple went through a mock wedding ceremony performed by their oldest son J. A. Goode. After the program a bonny wedding dinner was served much to the enjoyment of those present.

Among those present was Mrs. D. A. Goode, mother of D. J. Goode. All had an enjoyable time.

Gifford Pinchot's Appeal to Farmers

In this great time, when every citizen must do his part, the president has made his chief appeal to the men who live on the land. He is right in doing so, for the safety of our country just now it is in the hands of our farmers. What I mean is not merely our safety and the safety of our Allies in the matter of food. I mean that the safety of the United States against foreign invasion hangs on the decision of the farmers of the forty-eight States.

If the war lasts beyond this summer, it will be the American farmer who will win or lose the war, who will overcome militarism and autocracy, or allow them to spread and control the world, our selves included.

This is no fanciful picture, but sober fact. many a man will make light of it until he comes to think it over, but I venture to say that few will treat it lightly after careful thought. It is no more impossible than the great War itself appeared to be, only a few days before it began.

It is true that we can greatly increase the available food supply out of grain now used in making liquors, and by reducing household waste. But when these two things are done and done thoroughly, they will not be enough. The final decision will still rest in the hands of the men who raise food in the first place.

No such responsibility has ever rested on any class of men since the world began, as rests today on the farmers of America.

Patriotism and Industries

Those who manage the industries, operate railroads and utilities, manage the shipyards are rendering the nation service on a par with those who man the army and navy.

Those who attack these industries are just as unpatriotic as the individual who cries down national defense by the military arms of the government and will be open to censure.

To handicap these industries by strikes or resignation, boycotts or picketing will be clearly inimical of the nation and its industrial welfare and prosperity and nothing less.

The I. W. W. and the agitator who takes advantage of the national necessities and cripples the operation of its productive and transportation machinery is a public enemy.

The true test of Americanism is going to be a readiness and willingness to help in every way to maintain the national honor and integrity at home and abroad with labor, capital encouragement.

N. E. A. Meets in Portland July 7 to 14

Portland, Ore., May 7. Regarded as one of the great constructive forces of America, the National Education Association is being encouraged to go forward with its convention at Portland July 7 to 14, and school teachers everywhere are to be told that they "will be doing their stunt" for the United States by registering their attendance.

The program is to center around the idea of preparedness and patriotism. The preparedness to be taught at the "N. E. A." will be that of how to feed the army and the people, how to stabilize products to prevent soaring prices and the consequent hardships that come in the wake of such a movement.

The government at Washington believe that the N. E. A. convention should go forward, and that it should be attended by every teacher that can afford the trip.

The railroads have given assurance that there will be no interruption of transportation and that every teacher will be returned to his or her home on time. If it becomes necessary to move a few million troops across the country the troop trains will travel as extras, giving the regular passenger service the right of way.

Portland is going forward with preparations for the largest convention ever convened on the Pacific coast. A General Committee of 500 has been organized. The Municipal Auditorium and 13 other halls in the downtown district which will each care for more than 1,500 persons, have been secured. The city will be decorated with the National colors while information booths and telephone stalls will be made in the form of the legendary little red school house.

The teachers of Portland schools will tender a reception to all visitors on Tuesday night, July 10. During the week the wealthy Chinese families of Portland will receive at the Portland Hotel, the parlors having a Chinese atmosphere by having the walls draped with priceless tapestries, while Chinese maidens serve tea and sweetmeats. The state societies of the city are each planning to do some unique entertaining. The Mazamas, Portland's famous mountaineering organization, will lead a party of teachers on a hike to the top of Mt. Hood. A salmon barbecue is to be given at one of the city parks. Every session of each branch of the convention will feature music. The big entertainment of Educational Sunday will be a concert at the Municipal Auditorium by the Portland Symphony Orchestra.

Special rates are in effect on all railroads.

Hip Hurray! Circus in Salem May 11

Many Substantial claims can be made about the originality and genuine merit of the Al. G. Barnes Big 4-Ring Wild Animal Circus. While almost the entire performance is given by trained wild and domestic animals, the show has retained all the pomp and splendors of circusdom.

There's the grand cavalcade entry of beautiful horses and the hundreds of other animals and trainers; all the glittering tinsel, sawdust rings, comical clowns and inspiring music. Pink lemonade vendors cry their wares, but when the real performances—the big show starts, one instantly recognizes its wide departure from the old routine of circus entertainment.

Instead of the usual, the very unusual prevails. Big startling, thrilling acts done by ferocious wild animals, are shown in the big steel barred arena in the center of the tent. On either side of the arena are sawdust rings in which every kind of domestic animal is presented as an actor.

There are over 1000 of these animal actors with the Barnes show, and among them are jugglers, aerial performers, acrobats bareback riders, high divers, dancers and musicians. Lions, bears leopards, goats, dogs, monkeys and sea-lions ride galloping horses and ponies, seals play musical instruments and juggle different articles with their noses dogs and monkeys dive from the top of the big tent, elephants stand on their heads, high school horses and ponies do dances and brilliant military drills. Sixty-five different groups and ensembles of the animals are presented during the show program.

A glittering, six-band, mile-long parade is presented to the public at 10:30. Performances are given at 2 and 8 p. m. Doors are open at 1 and 7 p. m., permitting patrons to inspect the 100-cage menagerie.

Social Hygiene Lecture Here

Earl J. Cummins representing the Oregon Social Hygiene Society was in our midst last Friday and while here arranged for two meetings to take place in the high school auditorium. The womens meeting will be held at 2:30 Friday afternoon May 11th and the mass meeting for men will be held at 8 o'clock that evening, both of these meetings will be addressed by persons who are an authority on these subjects.

No finer work was ever undertaken in this state than is being conducted by the Oregon Social Hygiene Society under whose auspices these meetings are being held and the good that is already resulting from the knowledge gained from this organization is commendable, coming as it does in the cleanest and most intelligent manner that is possible.

These meetings should be well attended as Dr. Griffith who lectures to the men has been examining physician at the State Hospital for the past 25 years and is recognized as one of the highest authorities on these subjects

Dance and Pie Social

There will be a big dance and pie social next Saturday evening in the new cheese factory at Jordan. A splendid time is anticipated by those having the affair in charge. The floor in the factory will be in first-class shape for dancing and as it is a large building there is ample room for all.

The music will be furnished by Wesley and Kimball dancing will begin at 8:30, a cordial invitation is extended to all to come and have a good time.

The right place for your clothes buying

You want to buy clothes in the right place, of course; and with a number of places to chose from, you may not be sure which the right one is.

One important point in deciding this question is to ask yourself what you know about the goods offered. Do you know who makes the clothes you buy? What do you know about the maker? About his ideas of quality, style, tailoring? Do you know enough about the goods to feel sure you're going to get real value for your money?

When we mention Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes, we know that you know they're good clothes. You know they're absolutely guaranteed to give satisfaction. And we know that this store is the right place, because it's the place where you get Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes.
