"The Shine Girl"

"Peg O' My Heart of the Screen" at the Star Theatre Gladys Hulette in "The Shine Girl" A Pathe Gold Rooster Play, Rivals "Little Mary"

"The Shine Girl," the Pathe Gold Rooster play, which Manager Francis X. Hoereth, of the Star Theatre will present on Sunday May 20th is said by a motion picture authority to be one of the eight great pictures he has seen in the last six years. It is in many ways like that other Gold Rooster play "Little Mary Sunshine," which has already made a fortune.

"The Sunshine Girl" has been described as "Peg O' My Heart" of the screen. In it, Gladys Hulette plays a Mary Pickford part with such charm as to bring from the New York Morning Telegraph this comment: "Gladys Hulette is the little slum philosopher and her work is joy."

"The Shine Girl" is a human interest gem in five parts produced for Pathe by the Thalhouser Film Corporation. It was written by Agnes C. Johnston and it shows the hand of a master director, William Parke.

The dingy depths of a shoe-shinning basement holds five thousand feet of sunniness. "The Shine Girl," while shining shoes with her little hands, she polishes up the grouchy and brooding souls with a cheerful word and smile.

The part she eventually plays in the destinies of four people is an important one, and watching the sympathetic enactment of the story, you will cry a little, laugh a lot and then say: That's the kind of pictures I like to see.

In the story, the little girl steals a loaf of bread for a hungry friend. She is caught. A kind young judge of the Children's Court makes her see that she should not take what doesn't belong to her. Later he is about to run away with another man's wife. She asks him if he meant what he said, when he told her people shouldn't steal. What could he answer? The picture shows actual scenes in the Juvenile Court, and it has many touches which prove the director a master artist.

Methodist Church

Two great discourses will be delivered in the Methodist Episcopal church the coming Sunday by that prince of college instructors, popular student-leader and prominent mathematician, Prof. James T. Mathews will preach at both morning and evening services. His evening address being one of the Community-Citizenship series of special Sunday-night discourses.

The public is cordially invited to hear this scholar speaker.
E. B. Lockhart.

M. F. Ryan of Mt. Pleasant passed through Stayton with a load of hogs Wednesday.

Last Sunday there was a pleasant family re-union at the home of grand father and mother Highberger, the occasion was grand father's eightieth birthday anniversary. Their children and grand children and one great grand child were present. Sister M. Vincent of Tillamook, N. Ritzinger of Rogue River were the only ones that could not attend.

Where is the Profit?

"I understand they sold their house for $3,000 more than they paid for it."
"How lucky!"
"Lucky nothing! After they'd sold it they discovered that they've got to pay $2,000 more than they received for their house for another home to live in."—Detroit Free Press.

Books in Brazil.

In Brazil, as throughout South America, French is almost universally read. Editions of the classics are found in most homes, and bookstores are filled with modern French writers of prose or verse, sometimes in translation and as frequently in the original.

In the American Magazine Denn Herman Schneider of the School of Engineering of the University of Cincinnati says:

"A man is most efficient when he is doing the work that gives him the greatest satisfaction. From the laborer to the business executive, every man should get three things out of work—a decent living, development and discipline and satisfaction in the doing. "If your job gives these to you give back to it the best work of your hand and brain. If it fails to give you these face the fact that you are a misfit and seek your appointed place. You have no right to let life remain separated from its two handmaids—liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

Animals and Rhythm.
Animals have no sense of rhythm, though they may be taught to "dance." This is the announcement of Dr. Craig of the University of Maine. "Horses driven in span," he says in the Guide to Nature, "make no attempt to step together. Two birds, however sweetly they sing solo, never sing in time with one another nor with any other music. Even the so called dancing animals of the circus get their rhythm from the trainer, not from the tune."

A Telescope His Tomb.
After Keeler had become head of the Lick observatory and died there and his ashes were brought back to Allegheny for burial it was his friend Brashear who sealed them up in their last resting place, a hollow in the supporting pillar of the thirty inch reflector, which is Keeler's memorial.

Earthquakes.
Earthquakes are subterranean disturbances propagated through the earth in a series of elastic waves. How they originate is not clearly known. Many are associated with volcanic action, while just as many occur without any evidence of such association.

Paradoxical Crime.
"There's a queer case in court this morning."
"What is it?"
"A dumb man arrested for uttering forged notes."—Exchange.

Breakfast Habits.
Mrs. X.—When my husband stays out all night I refuse to get him any breakfast. Mrs. Y.—When my husband stays out all night he never wants any.

Africa.
The word "Africa" comes from the Phoenician "afer," meaning "a black man," and the Sanskrit "ao" meaning earth, land, country.

Avenue of the Presidents.
Sixteenth street, in Washington, leads directly to the White House and has been called the "Avenue of the Presidents."

He who does as well as he knows how today will know better tomorrow.

May Party.

The beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Schaefer, south of town, was the scene of a merry gathering Saturday eve. when in response to an invitation given by their daughter, Miss Margaret, the members of Miss Nora Craotree's Sunday school class and other friends assembled there for their annual May party.

A huge bonfire had been carefully prepared by Grandpa Wunder and the illumination against a background of apple-blossoms was very beautiful. Out-of-door games were indulged in until 10:30, when Mrs. Schaefer appeared with an immense basket filled with big red apples which she placed in their midst with the kindly salutation, "Help yourselves." After this came the "weenie" roast, followed by sandwiches, pickles, cake and lemonade. At 12:00 o'clock all arose, the men doffed their hats and "America" was sung. Then thanking their kind host and hostess for the royal manner in which they were received and entertained, departed.

Those present were Mrs. P. P. Crabtree and daughter Edna, Mrs. Fulton, M. Titus, Misses Nona Fulton, Lois Braekin, Carol Smuck, Olive Bassett, Beryl McLaughlin, Alice Smith, Ina Harold, Ella Williams, Margaret Schaefer, Miss Kuiken, Messrs. Gene Ware, Lewis Kearns, Lowell Riggs, Tom Taylor, John Olmsted, Ira Kirsch, Cecil Schaefer, Roy Follis, Loyd Schaefer, Roy and Arthur Kelley, Mr. Taylor, Grandpa Wunder and the host and hostess Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Schaefer. On account of a severe cold Miss Crabtree was unable to attend.
