Memorial Exercises

Every seat was occupied and many were obliged to stand, at the Memorial Day exercises held in the High school auditorium yesterday morning.

The program opened with music by the orchestra, "Star Spangled Banner," followed by the invocation. A number of small boys gave a drill and song very nicely. Paul Stayton gave a recitation. A male quartette, composed of Stanley A. Starr, Dr. Pintler and H. A. and C. A. Beauchamp sang in a pleasing manner. Wm. Ryan recited Logan's Command, and was followed by Henry Allis, with Lincoln's Gettysburg address. Next on the program was another song by the quartette and a recitation by Leo Wier.

The address was delivered by Rev. Lockhart, who spoke feelingly of the inadequacy of words to express the regard and esteem the American people should have for the men who gave their services to the country during the trying times of the civil war. He declared that President Wilson is doing all in his power for the good of the country, and that the nation should be united in his support. Every person can and should do something to help in the great war in which we are involved.

After an overture by the orchestra the audience was dismissed with the benediction.

The exercises throughout were interesting and appropriate.

After the audience was dismissed they accompanied the veterans to the cemetery, where the graves were decorated.

In the afternoon the veterans, accompanied by a number others went to the bridge where flowers were strewn on the water in commemoration of those who lost their lives at sea.

The money cleared from the show will be used to defray any expenses the Guard may have. Later the girls expect to have uniforms and this sum will be a good start towards that and other aims.
