Santiam Ferry Breaks Loose

Two teams of horses were thrown into the water, one team drowned and two wagons lost when Santiam ferry north of Shelburn, broke loose from the cable holding it and floated down the stream at about 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning.

A span of horses owned by John Gibbons was drowned when the horses were thrown into the river by the fast rush of the floating ferry. A team of horses owned by George Miller was also thrown off the ferry but were saved. The wagons owned by both men are still in the stream, but will probably be removed without great damage. A team of horses also remained on the ferry and was unhurt.

According to the residents near the scene, the ferry was overloaded and the cable weak.

TAKE NOTICE!

Persian Wisdom.

Do not talk about repentance to me. What is the use of regrets? Falsehood tells you repent; truth says love only. Whatever was alien to God remains not. Shut off all remembrance from yourself. We are embarrassed by traditions on our way. Speak not about the past; live in the shadow of love, and let everything else pass on.

An Evil Suggestion.

"While you are asking papa for my hand in marriage, Phillip, I'll be playing something lively on the piano," said the sweet young thing. "No, I wouldn't do that, Jessica," replied the young man. "You know some people can't keep their feet still when they hear lively music."—Chicago News.

In Training.

The young son of the house had just given his mother an account of his actions that she found it difficult to believe.

"Johnny," she said, "do you know what becomes of little boys who tell stories?"

"Sure I do!" replied the unrepentant culprit. "They grow up and join dad's club."—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Putting His Foot in It.

She—Don't be downhearted, Richard, even if father does say you'll be young enough to marry five years from now. He—Oh, I don't care for myself, but how about you?—Exchange.

God does not comfort us to make us comfortable, but to make us comforters.—J. Jowett.

RED CROSS WEEK

The Red Cross War Council wants one hundred million dollars for military and civilian relief at home and abroad during the present war.

President Wilson, in a formal proclamation, has set aside the week from June 18th to 25th as Red Cross Week, and has made a strong appeal to the nation to rally to this call, and with practical patriotism, furnish the means by which this single, experienced organization, recognized by law and international convention as the public instrumentality for this purpose, may carry on its tremendous task.

The machinery for this campaign has been carefully organized. The Western committee is headed by John B. Miller, of Los Angeles, and assisting him are Lawrence C. Phipps, Sr., of Denver; William H. Crocker, of San Francisco; Henry L. Corbett, of Portland; Charles E. Peabody, of Seattle; George G. Taliaferro, of San Antonio, Texas, and Ford Harvey, of Kansas City, Mo. The Western executive secretary is Lyman L. Pierce, and the associate secretary is Richard R. Perkins.

Conferences have been held already in the principal centers—San Francisco, Los Angeles, Portland, Denver and Wichita, Kan. At each of these meetings the strongest men in the community gladly came forward, offering both their time and money. Joseph Tumulty, secretary to President Wilson, has wired to hundreds of the leading citizens in the big cities and has received from them instant and enthusiastic promises of assistance.

A definite program for the canvass has been worked out. Teams are organized in all cities and towns and the "drive" will be just as thorough as experienced direction can make it. That the huge sum will be raised without difficulty seems assured. Of the hundred million, the West is asked to raise fifteen millions, and those in charge of the campaign are confident that the end of Red Cross Week will see the entire sum subscribed.

School Meeting Held.

The advertised school meeting was held in the high school auditorium last Monday afternoon and the first order of business after the selection of a secretary pro tem, made necessary by the absence of the clerk, W. A. Weddle, who is ill with the mumps, was the reading of the clerks annual report which was accepted by the large crowd as read. Miss Nora Crabtree acted as secretary of the meeting.

W. W. Elder was unanimously elected director to serve for the next three years and W. A. Weddle was re-elected clerk for another year. The 10 mill tax asked for by the directors received an overwhelming majority thus proving the progressiveness of the community, showing that it is not the wish of the taxpayers to see the splendid school of which we are all justly proud take a backward step.

W. F. Klecker was in Salem the first of the week attending a meeting of the Knights of Columbus.

"Her Condoned Sin" Coming to Star Soon

If you were a woman and forced to choose between the life of your lover and the welfare of your nation, which would you choose? Would you have the strength to wield a broadsword to the death of the man you loved if that man's death meant that your people might live? Such is the problem that comes home to the beautiful Judith in the stupendous six-act superproduction of "Her Condoned Sin," a remarkable photoplay, which will be shown on Saturday June 30 at the Star Theatre.

The spectator shudders in sympathy with the harassed Judith when this problem confronts her, and one cannot but applaud the decision she makes. There are two or three love themes running throughout the production, and the spectacular scenes are truly magnificent. The magnificent feasts, the tremendous battles in which 11,000 people take part, the almost perfect photography and the details of the production makes it one of the greatest that has ever been flashed on the screen.

D. W. Griffith, who produced "Intolerance" and "The Birth of a Nation," also made "Her Condoned Sin," and to help him in making one of the best productions ever known he had what is perhaps the greatest cast of notable players ever assembled for a single picture. That the acting is extremely good is assured by such stars as Mae Marsh, Blanche Sweet, Dorothy and Lillian Gish, Robert Parron and Henry B. Walthall. In every sense of the word "Her condoned Sin," according to the country's foremost critics, is entitled to rank among the classics of the screen which will never die.
