Interesting Magazine

An interesting little magazine "The Spike" published by the men of the 8th Regiment Engineers National Army U. S. A. is brought to our desk. It was sent to John H. Porter by his son Glenn who is in the Engineering Corps. Glenn has had several years experience in this line of work previous to going into the army. He spent something in Alaska. He has grown to manhood in this vicinity and has many friends who are interested in him. Following is a song published in "The Spike."

EIGHTH ENGINEER'S SONG.
By Albert C. Wilson, C Co.
We don't belong to the regulars
We're railroad engineers.
We're only part of the rank and file,
But someone holds us dear.
Many a mother's heart will ache,
Within the coming year.
But Uncle Sam will take off his hat
To the Railroad Engineers

Shakespeare
Lempeber
Cherootes
(War Hoop)

We're from the wild and woolly west
We're almost civilized,
From Rocky Mountains to the Coast,
We've counted many ties,
From Canada to Mexico,
Beneath the Western skies
We've come to help the soldier boys,
And the job is just our size.

YELL.
We'll lay the track through No Man's Land
We'll lay it there to stay.
We'll use American methods,
And we'll work the modern way.
We'll take our own equipment,
And we'll lay it right to Krupp
And then when once we lay it down,
We'll be damned if we take it up.

YELL.
We don't know much about the drill
The soldiers have to do,
We'll make the kaiser clear the track
And boys, we'll shoot her thro'
We'll highball down the Aisne and Somme
And this is what we'll do,
We'll ramble into Germany,
With the Old Red, White and Blue.

YELL.

The high prices of all raw material entering into the manufacture of printing and the publishing of a newspaper has made it imperative that we either increase the price of our subscription or cut down the size of our paper and in view of the fact that there have been so many demands on us all for financial assistance we deemed it advisable to cut our paper down to four pages until advertising increases enough to justify us in again increasing to six pages. We trust our readers will see the justness of our decision and continue to give us the same loyal support they have in the past. Owing to the decrease in advertising at this season of the year we will be able to give them practically the same amount of local news they have been getting in the six page paper.
