

Prices Cut Still Deeper on Remaining Summer Goods

We have gone through our stock of remaining seasonable goods and reduced the prices still further for final clearance. When you come and see how our stocks have gone down during the last few weeks you will realize that we must have offered real bargains to have moved so many goods, for there are still many weeks in which to use these goods, but for us the season is practically at an end.

Shipments of Fall Goods are Already on the way. SEE OUR WINDOW.

Methodist Church

Next Sunday night at the Methodist Episcopal church one of the most interesting summer night services will be held when C. E. Daugherty editor of the Mail, will make an address on "The Newspaper's Influence on The Community Life" dealing with one of the important problems of American Citizenship. This is a subject every citizen ought to be interested in and one every thoughtful man and woman ought to hear Mr. Daugherty tell of. The pastor will give a ten minute talk preceding the address of the evening on "The Complete Angler's Vacation Message". The Misses Hamman will render a duet. A large audience is expected.

At the morning service the pastor will take for his theme for pulpit discussion "Christian Failures or Causes of Religious Apostasy". The public respectfully invited to all services.

It is expected by the Sunday school people of Stayton that next Sunday morning a delegation from Salem representing the district organization will visit Stayton and the Sunday schools here for the purpose of arranging a Sunday school convention to be held here in a couple of weeks when it is hoped to form a district with Stayton the center. This organization would take in the schools held in places in the country within reasonable reach, it is understood and Rev. E. B. Lockhart who has been asked to co-operate, states that the move, if put on, would mean an impetus to church co-operation and Bible study throughout this section. Harry White president of the Salem district, Miss Grace Sherwood, secretary, and others may be here.
