Baby Star Proves Clean Pictures Pay

One of the most popular stars of the screen was born in 1912. She is Baby Marie Osborne, featured in Pathe plays.

Recently a nationally known film theatre owner said: "Give us nothing but pictures that are fit to show on week days, and there will be no agitation about closing our theatres on Sundays."

He went on to call attention to an advertisement which the Pathe Company published concerning their child star. It stated directly to the men who run the theatres of the country that Clean Pictures Pay.

This in three words expresses what the Pathe Company has been preaching since it started twenty years ago, to make the rooster a symbol of good taste and quality throughout the world.

It is this policy which is responsible for "Little Mary Sunshine," "Sunshine and Shadows," "Joy and the Dragon" and "Twin Kiddies," in which Baby Marie Osborne, has been seen. Her latest photoplay is entitled "Told at Twilight," and it again is a clean, delightful attraction for any day in the week.

Manager F. X. Hoereth of the Star theatre, supporting the Pathe clean picture policy, has booked the picture for Sunday.
