FARM AND CITY LOANS

If you are paying a high rate of interest, why not refund your loan at a lower rate and more liberal terms. It is not good business to pay a higher rate of interest than the market demands, nor is it good business to keep your surplus funds on time deposits at 3 to 4 per cent. per annum when 6 per cent can readily be secured on first Farm Mortgages. If you have money to loan or wish to refund or secure a new one, call or write S. H. HELTZEL, Stayton, Oregon.

YOUR KIDNEYS

Stayton Residents Must Learn the Importance of Keeping Well

Perfect health means that every organ of the body is performing its functions properly.

Perfect health cannot be enjoyed if the kidneys are weak and disordered. Thousands testify that Doan's Kidney Pills have a reviving action on weak kidneys.

What this remedy has done in so many cases of this kind is the best proof of its merit.

Read the following. It's testimony gratefully given by a resident of this locality:

Mrs. John Bray, 728 E. Fourth St., Albany, Ore., says: "I have never found anything that gives such good results as Doan's Kidney Pills when I have been subject to kidney trouble for years. At times my back has ached pretty badly and during those attacks my kidneys have acted irregularly. A day's use of Doan's Kidney Pills has never failed to relieve the trouble and they have always made me feel fine."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Bray had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Francis X Hoereth was in town Tuesday for a brief visit with friends before joining Uncle Sam's forces. He left Salem yesterday with sixty or more others.

Jake Kerber left yesterday morning for Salem, where he went with the soldier boys who left there for Camp Lewis. His mother and Mrs. Wm. Kerber went as far as Salem with him.

Roxie Eleanor Stayton, a registered nurse of the General Hospital, Seattle, has volunteered her services overseas and is now at Camp Taylor, Louisville, Kentucky, en route to France. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Stayton, well known here.

J. D. Mickle, Dairy and Food Commissioner of Oregon, and Prof. Fitts of the Dairy extension department of the O. A. C. will deliver lectures on dairying at the Jordan Store, 2 p.m. Saturday, a very interesting program will be given. Everybody come.

J. H. Anderson and wife have sold their place in Stayton, near the Masonic hall, to W. H. Humphreys. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson expect to make their home for the present with their daughter near Portland. They are among Stayton's oldest and most respected residents, and their many friends here are sorry to see them leave, and wish them success wherever they may they may go.

BREEDING SHEEP FOR FUR

Production of "Persian Lamb" May Be Added to the Industries of the United States.

In far-away Bokhara, a town and district in Asiatic Russia that has a half-mystical sound to American ears, "Persian" lambs have been grown for ages for the tightly curled, lustrous-black fleeces that constitute the warm cover of the natives. And so the fashion of wearing Persian lamb and astrakhan has come down from the ages until women in all civilized lands where the winters are cold seek their warmth, and fashion's decree has made them so popular that the cost of Persian lamb has gone up 142 per cent in 15 years.

It must have been instinct—it could not have been foreknowledge—that a world war would curtail commerce—that made an American decide a few years ago to try breeding the sort of sheep that bear the highly prized fleeces, on his 1,000-acre ranch near Cottonwood Falls, Kan. He reasoned that if they could be bred in Asia, they could be bred in Kansas, and so thoroughly did he believe in the proposition that he invested $35,000 in karakul sheep from Bokhara. These he crossed with native Lincoln-bred sheep, and the lambs of this cross bear the valuable pelts that hitherto have been imported almost exclusively from Russia.—Robert H. Moulton in Popular Mechanics Magazine.

WHAT YOUR MONEY IS WORTH

Comparative Value of Coins of Different Countries of the World Explained.

How much is a franc? A ruble? A mark? To be well posted a man should be familiar with the money in circulation in foreign lands, observes the Columbus Dispatch. And if the man is of military age or inclination there is no telling how soon he may be called upon to exchange his perfectly good American dollars for the medium of circulation in France, England, Russia, Germany or other European countries.

Of course values are changing almost daily, as regards the exchange of foreign money for Uncle Sam's dollars, but under ordinary conditions it can be figured that in Germany the mark is worth 23.8 cents in United States money. The German thaler is equal to three marks, and the krona (a gold piece) equals ten marks. In England the sovereign (gold) is worth $4.8665, a pound sterling; the penny equals two of our cents, the crown $1.21 and the shilling 24 cents.

It is interesting to note that the franc of France (worth 19.3 cents) is also the unit of currency in Belgium and Switzerland, and that it is equal to the peseta of Spain, and lira of Italy, the drachma of Greece, the leu of Roumania, the dinar of Serbia and the bolivar of Venezuela. The Russian ruble, normally, is worth 51.5 cents, the piaster of Turkey 44 cents, the Japanese yen 49.8 cents, the Mexican peso (silver) 49.8 cents and the Chinese tael 75 cents to 83 cents. And there's no wonder that "Chinese money" is tossed about so carelessly for the copper cash (China's monetary unit) is worth a United States dollar when you have 1,750 of them.

In British East India "pie" (the popular coin) is cheap. An American penny buys four.

FOUGHT IN SERBIAN RANKS

Bravery of Irish Woman Rewarded by Highest Decoration Crown Prince Could Bestow.

Sergt. Maj. Flora Sandes, an Irish woman who for two years has been serving with the gallant Serbian army, is now in London on leave of absence for a few weeks.

"In August, 1914, I went to Serbia as a nurse," she said, when asked to tell something of her war experiences. "After the terrible retreat in which I took part I joined the regimental ambulance. When cut off from that I obtained permission to join the Serbian army as a private. For two years I was in the thick of most of the fighting. At the taking of Hill 1212 (Macedonian front) a hand grenade exploded near me and I fell badly wounded. My company, which was in advance of our main body, was outnumbered by the Bulgarians, but they refused to fall back when ordered to do so, declaring they would not leave me to the mercy of the enemy.

"When I was being dragged off to safety through the snow they remained behind, fighting a rear-guard action. The next day our troops attacked again and drove the Bulgarians out of their trenches. In them they found the bodies of a number of our men, each one with his throat cut. That is the favorite method of disposing of prisoners." It was after the capture of Hill 1212 that the Irish Amazon, while lying in hospital, was awarded by the Serbian crown prince the Kara-George decoration, which is the Serbian equivalent of the British Victoria Cross. Three other decorations she has received for bravery in the field.

The Line in Lorraine.

Lorraine means "Lothair's Kingdom," but certainly its most famous figure was that duke of Lorraine, Godfrey of Bouillon, the hero of many fabled exploits, who was said to have cloven asunder the body of a Moslem emir with one stroke of his good sword, who was leader of the first crusade, who saw the deliverance of Jerusalem and became the ruler of that Holy City wrested from paynim hands. The American soldier might do worse than swear "By Godfrey!" Whether we now hold a mile or five miles will presently be of no importance, for our expeditionary forces have but made a beginning. A look at the map will satisfy any American how much of the front line our men should be defending before many months have passed.

Use for Clothespins.

Clothespins make an excellent plaything for babies. They can be used for babies or soldiers, or to make fences, trees, log houses and many other interesting things. Playthings that can be taken apart and put together again are good to have; also blocks with which the child can build all kinds of objects—engines that he can push along the floor, balls to bounce and throw, doll carriages, washing sets, etc. Dolls with clothes that button and unbutton and come off may be used to teach the children how to dress and undress themselves.

Tommy's Curious Callings.

The British Tommy has always been famous for the brilliancy of his powers of romance. If asked questions he did not want to answer by people who had no right to know. The latest illustration is afforded by a repatriated soldier of a Welsh regiment. He had been a prisoner in the camp at Gutrow, where the German authorities, with a view to securing skilled labor, were anxious to learn the occupation of the prisoners. But surely never before were there such callings—a trench tender, watchman, stiller, a millstone inspector. The Germans gave it up.

ALLIES DEMAND MORE CEREALS

American Meat Restrictions Relaxed to Effect Greater Wheat Savings.

ARGENTINE ARRIVALS SHORT.

Meat Supply Here Considerably Enlarged — Food Administration, However, Warns Against Waste.

The allies have made further and increased demands for breadstuffs, these enlarged demands being caused to some degree by shortage in arrivals from the Argentine. It is, therefore, necessary for the U. S. Food Administration to urge a still further reduction in the consumption of bread and bread stuffs generally if we are to meet our export necessities. The Food Administration has issued a statement explaining the situation in detail, particularly the reasons which lead it, for the purpose of centering effort for the time being upon the cereal situation to relax temporarily the restrictions on meat consumption.

Experience shows, this statement says, that the consumption of breadstuffs is intimately associated with the consumption of meat. For various reasons our supplies of meat for the next two or three months are considerably enlarged, and we can supply the allies with all of the meat products which transportation facilities render possible and at the same time somewhat increase our own consumption. In these circumstances the Food Administration considers it wise to relax the voluntary restrictions on meat consumption to some extent with a view to further decreasing bread consumption.

Conservation of food must be adjusted to meet necessities from time to time, for neither production, nor allied demands are constant factors, nor can any of these factors be anticipated for long periods in advance in the disturbed conditions in which we at present live. While the world situation is not one that warrants any relaxation in the efforts to eliminate waste or to relax economy in food, the Administration desires to secure better adjustment in food balances.

So long as the present conditions continue the only special restrictions we ask are the beefless and porkless Tuesday.

The meatless meal and the porkless Saturday are no longer asked.

The farmers of the United States are responding to the national call to increase hog production. Their increase, to all appearances, is being attained more rapidly. Of more immediate importance, however, are several complex factors which have effected an immediate increase in meat supplies.

The transportation shortage before the government took over the railroads, the bad weather in January and early in February, the large percentage of immature corn in the last harvest and the necessity of feeding this corn as rapidly as possible to save it from decay, have not only resulted in backing up the animals—particularly hogs—on the farms for a longer period of feeding, but have resulted in a great increase in their average weight and will result, with improved transportation conditions, which already appear, in larger than normal arrivals at market for the next two or three months. The weight of hogs coming to the market for the past two weeks indicates an increase in weight of from an average of 203 pounds last year to the almost unprecedented average of 232 pounds, or a net increase in their meat value of over 15 per cent. This is a distinct addition to the nation's meat supply. It therefore now seems certain that we have such enlarged supplies for at least some months to come, that we can not only increase our exports to the allies to the full extent of their transportation facilities, but at the same time can properly increase our domestic consumption.

The response of the public to our requests for reduced consumption of meat during the past few months has been most gratifying, and this service alone has enabled the government during this period to provide such supplies as transportation to the allies permitted.

The Administration also suggests that in those parts of the country where the old fashioned home preservation of pork is still the custom, this practice should be extended at the present time, as it will relieve the burden upon transportation to and from the packing houses and is economically sound as saving the cost of packing operations and at the same time will provide home supplies of pork to last over the months of decreased supplies.

The Food Administration desires to repeat that it does not want to give the impression that these are times when simplicity and moderation of living are not critically necessary, but that its sole desire is to secure an adjustment between our different food supplies and meet changing conditions from time to time and to keep the public fully and frankly advised of its position with the full confidence and reliance that whenever it becomes necessary renewed appeals for saving will meet the same loyal response as in the past.

Rudolph Henkel Writes

Tacoma Wn. June 20, 1918

Dear Mother and Sister,

No, I am not dead nor have I left for France. I just looked at your last letter and it is dated, May 14th and I think it is past time to write. I am well and pretty much contented. The school ma'ams are all leaving. Miss Croake went to her home in Wisconsin for the summer. I went to Seattle with her, she started last Sunday. Maybe you don't know why I am telling you all this but I know. I am working nights, that is from 3:45 p. m. to 11:45 p. m. We work 7 1/2 hours but get paid for 8. I got a little rise in pay the other day, so now I get $7.12 a day or night. When I first came to Tacoma I got $5.00, then $5.50, then $6.00, then $6.60 and now get $7.15 Limit? There is't any. If this keeps on I think I'll die right here.

I saw Harvey Beauchamp two weeks ago. He has the same job in South Tacoma that Ed Blakely had. Ed is married and out at Camp Lewis. He was drafted. I don't think I can come home when strawberries are ripe. I have a kind of a boss job and I don't think Fagan, the night superintendent, will let me off, but you let me know anyway and if I can come I sure will. I want to thank you very much for the berries you sent me. I expect they were the very fist. They were quite soft some of them but I ate them. I got them in the afternoon mail. I hulled them and put sugar on them and put them in the ice box and ate them when I got home from work. I bought a half pint of cream and they were fine. We have strawberries here often but they are not very good. Cream is out of the question. You have gone and spoiled it all.

I bought a motorcycle and was going to surprise you when the berries were ripe I only get $46.09 a week. Well I jazz around a good deal on my motorcycle. I nearly always get to bed at one o'clock and get up at nine, so I have until 2:30 p. m. to ride. I have had the "Flying Dragon," as a man here calls the motorcycle, about two months but have not ridden much. I didn't get a light on it for about amonth. But since I got a light I ride on it to and from work.

Day before yesterday I went out to Camp Lewis and yesterday out to Point Defiance. Today I am going out to the hospital to see a school teacher here who has Scarlet Fever. Nobody goes from the house to see her except me. They are all afraid. You can't get close to her. I have to stand about 15 feet from her and talk. She has been in quarantine about three weeks. Nobody else in the house has taken it. I don't think there is much danger.

I haven't any songs this time I have not heard any new ones. I haven't been to a show for two weeks. That is where I hear the new ones.

Marie must come to Tacoma and see me when she has her vacation. I will try and treat her better than I did last year. She can plan right now to come for a few days or a week. I would like to have mother come too, but I expect she thinks she can't. I can think of nothing more to write so I will close.

From your son and brother
Rudolph Henkel

Wm. S. Hart Coming

It doesn't often fall to the lot of a small boy to enjoy the unusual film distinction that has come to young Harold Goodwin, who appears in William S. Hart's newest photoplay, "The Silent Man," made by Thomas H. Ince for Artcraft. Harold is a bright chap who has been doing various odd bits of acting at the Ince studios for some time, and whatever he has been called upon to perform he has done exceptionally well. This was particularly in the case of "The Sawdust Ring," a personally supervised Ince picture, in which he shares honors with the advertised star. In "The Silent Man" young Goodwin plays a role in which he is called upon to display marked dramatic talent, and for many hundreds of feet of film he and Hart monopolize the interest of the audience.

Harold took to the motion picture with the close of the school season in California last spring, and when the Government announced that no more amateur wireless outfits would be permitted to grab messages from the ether. Harold was an ambitious and expert wireless operator, and his aerials high above the Goodwin home in Los Angeles were the envy of all the youths in the neighborhood. When he applied to Mr. Ince for a chance to act before the camera it was discovered that Harold "screened" unusually well, and he was immediately engaged as a regular member of the Thomas H. Ince forces. "The Silent Man" will be seen at the Star theatre on Sunday.
