A. Starr and wife, B. A. Schaefer and wife and Archie Caspell and wife went blackberryping Sunday. They report lots of berries and a splendid time except some of them were nursing sunburned back and shoulders Monday.

Mrs. Jennie Ficklin and son Lyle, who have been sojourning in Long Beach Cal., for several months were guests of Mrs. Fred Ficklin a few days last week. Lyle leaves for training camp today.

Miss Edna Buckner of Jefferson visited at the home of T. J. Ware, Friday. Miss Buckner was teacher of the Howell school last year and she has been employed to teach the Kingston school this year.

The uniforms for the local Co., of the Oregon Guard arrived Monday evening but they were so off color and such misfits that the Colonel and the Captain decided not to accept them and the whole company are asked to meet Friday evening and be measured again.

Herbert Staab rode his motorcycle to Salem Sunday, while there, as the machine was not working well, he took it to be repaired. After fixing it, the man who did the repairing, Darius Bright, employed by Scott & Piper, took it out to try it. While riding up and down, a street car crossed the street and in trying to turn out of its way the motorcycle fell and the man and the machine were both thrown under the car. The car did not pass over Bright, but he was dragged some distance before the car stopped, and when picked up it was found that his skull had been fractured and he had received other injuries which resulted in his death. The motorcycle was badly wrecked.

Ann Pennington's Narrow Escape

Much of the realest kind of comedy appears in water scenes of the latest Ann Pennington picture, "The Antics of Ann," which is to be shown on Saturday July 27 at the Star theatre, when Miss Pennington as a rather harum scarum boarding school girl, amazes her friends and relatives by appearing in a daring if somewhat risqué bathing suit. The interested spectators who flocked after her at the hotel where the scenes were taken nearly upset the bathing raft and it was necessary to send for the life guards to rescue the small star.

Our Boys and The Red Triangle

Try the following experiment Pick out a rainy district and a barn with a leaky roof and gapping walls. Move into that barn with a blanket, a toothbrush and sixty pounds of bricks. Carry those bricks around in rain and heat twelve or fourteen miles a day. When you are through promenading with the bricks or digging, eat your beans out of a wafu basin, light your pipe, pick out the least wet and drafty spot in the barn and contemplate the beauties of the manure pile on the other side of the yard, varying this occupation now and then by shifting to a softer location in the damp hay. Continue this experiment for at least six weeks, sprinkling your person plentifully but usefully with insect powder and taking a weekly bath out of a tin cup. At the end of six weeks watch some one put up a temporary wooden structure a hundred yards from the barn. Watch him put up a stove, tables, chairs, a phonograph, a shelf with tobacco, candy and similar articles, a counter with hot coffee and doughnuts. When that fellow is done and waves at you to come over, wouldn't you make the hundred yards in nothing flat?

Multiply this experiment by a million, add night raids, daylight bombardments, a foreign language and homesickness, and you have a picture of what the boys in France are up against. All honor to them for it! After all, the Hun isn't their greatest foe. The worst menace to them is the drab monotony of life in the field the total lack of the small conveniences we never notice until they are gone, the endless succession of discomforts, dirt and mean miseries from which there are only two avenues of escape:

the French inn with wine and worse things and the Red Triangle hut.

In which place would you prefer to find your boy?

The Red Triangle of the Y. M. C. A. has the same meaning for the unwounded boys that the Red Cross has for those who have suffered bodily injury. As the war goes on, the work of the Red Triangle becomes of daily increasing importance. Remember that the boys in France are digging trenches—and graves—for you. Dig into your pocket for them—From the August Sunset.

Use Ice as Necessity Not as Luxury

Do not waste ice, says the United States Food Administration. Its use as a luxury to serve with salads, fruit, and sea foods and to put more than is necessary in glasses of water, tea and other drinks should be discouraged.

There is to be no curtailment on the use of ice as a necessity, but it should be used carefully in localities where any shortage is indicated. It is considered a necessity when used to preserve food and in administering comfort, and every reasonable effort will be made to see that families are supplied with their legitimate needs.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions, and in order to cure it you must take an internal remedy. Hall's Catarrh Medicine is taken internally and acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. Hall's Catarrh Medicine was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years. It is composed of some of the best tonics known combined with some of the best blood purifiers. The perfect combination of the ingredients in Hall's Catarrh Medicine is what produces such wonderful results in catarrhal conditions. Send for testimonials free. F. J. E. C. TITUS
Automobile Dealer of Stayton.

Stayton, Oregon, July 24, 1918.

Mr. Titus received the following telegram from the Chevrolet factory this morning and is self explanatory.

"Retail prices of CHEVROLET "Four Ninety" will advance $50.00 on August first. You are at liberty to announce this. There will be no change in model." Signed: Chevrolet Motor Co, by R. C. Durant, Sales Manager.

With the cars I have in stock and the ones I will receive between this date and August 1st will not total over one car load and this number will be all the Chevrolet cars available for the Stayton territory at the present prices $795.00. After August 1st the price will be approximately $845.00.

It is not necessary for us to state this is your last opportunity to buy one of these famous cars at the low price of $795.00.

Even at the advanced price after August 1st the Chevrolet "Four Ninety" still remains the lowest priced electrically equipped automobile in the world.

Remember only six days remain for you to save $50.00 and a short letter with a check for $50.00 as a deposit will hold one of these cars for you, as it will be impossible for me to see all my numerous prospects in person.

Please keep the date of the $50.00 raise in mind, August 1st, and if you put off the placing of your order until the last of the month you will be disappointed.

Yours very truly,
E. C. TITUS.
