English Undefined.
We observe that in his Jutland battle story Rudyard Kipling uses the phrase "under the circumstances." It is no doubt supported by usage, but all the same we are rather surprised to see it employed by such a master of English style. The proper expression must surely be "in the circumstances," since it is difficult to see how you can be supposed to be "under" the things that stand around you. There is an old controversy on the subject, and we thought the matter had been settled long ago. However, "in the circumstances," we venture on this gentle protest in the interest of English pure and undented.—London Globe.

A Doubting Father.
George Manville Fenn was in the Reform Club one afternoon, says a London Journal, when he noticed that an old gentleman, a friend of his, was looking rather perturbed, so he inquired if there was anything the matter. "Well," said the old gentleman, "the fact is my son has got a play coming out tonight, and I fear it will be a ghastly failure. He can write pretty little plays when he likes, but this one he has written is a nonsensical sort of a thing, and I'm sure it won't do at all. However, I suppose I must go and see it." The son's name was William S. Gilbert, and the play was "Trial by Jury."

We're All Actors.
Mme. Alexandra Viarda, the Polish tragedienne, once propounded the following:
"It is a strange thing, but ask a man to mend a rip in his coat.
"No; he is not a tailor.
"Ask another to stop the faucet from leaking.
"No; he's not a plumber.
"Or another to do a bit of cabinet work.
"No; he is not a carpenter.
"But ask any one of the three or all of them to enact a little part in a play and each will smile in fatuous confidence and instantly acquiesce.
"But watch him act!"

Forward!

With no thought of bursting shrapnel and poisonous gases into which they plunge—with every muscle tense, with every faculty of mind alert, with one thought only—TO FIGHT AND WIN.

That is the way our men are going into battle. When the shrill whistle sounds the advance, out they go—their whole heart in the task before them. No power on earth can hold them back.

Forward!

The same sharp challenge to battle is sounding for us. We must answer in the same proud way—the way of our fighting men—the American way. We must lend the way they fight.

We must show the war-maddened Hun a united American people moving forward shoulder to shoulder, irresistibly, to Victory.

Our task is to supply the money, the ships, the guns, the shells that we must have to win. It is a tremendous task. We must do it as our fighting men do theirs—with the indomitable spirit of Victory.

We must work, and save, and lend with one thought only—TO FIGHT AND WIN.

Get into the fight—with your whole heart. Buy Bonds—to the utmost!

REVIEW OF WORK OF OREGON LEGISLATURE

House Passes Measure Providing for Military Training in High Schools.

New Road and Irrigation Codes—Marriage Law Repealed—Two Cigarette Bills Pass House—Senate Passes Rural Credits Measure—Canneries Are Favored—Grain Bureau Provided for—All May Vote at School Elections.

Salem.—The state legislature began the final week of the present session with much important proposed legislation still to receive attention at the hands of one or both houses. However, both houses adjourned over Sunday with the desks practically clear, so if systematic, business-like methods prevail and the flow of oratory is shut off this week, all the really important matters will receive attention. Both houses will adjourn sine die Saturday night, February 17, the 40th day of the 40-day session provided by the state constitution.

Perhaps the most important piece of legislation acted upon this week was the passage by the house of a bill providing for military training in the high schools of the state. It passed the house with 35 votes in its favor.

The military course is not to be compulsory, however, on the part of either schools or of students. It is to be the subject, though, of suitable credit on the same basis as other studies and in an amount to be determined by the board of education.

The governor is made head of the military training department. All schools that establish it must apply to him for authority. No company of cadets can be organized with fewer than 25 members or without a suitable instructor. At least three hours a week are to be set aside for the work.

The state is authorized, too, to furnish the several companies with rifles and other equipment.

Passes Road and Irrigation Codes. Two of the most important measures before the legislature, a complete road code and a complete irrigation code, were passed by the house with almost unanimous votes.

The road code is the product of the joint house and senate committee on

Towne—My wife never likes me to refer to her age. Browne—My wife's funny that way too. She doesn't want me to remember her age, and yet she gets mad if I forget her birthday.

Friend—Ah, doctor, how did you make out with that cranky patient of yours? Doctor—Oh, we're both on the road to recovery. He's able to be about, and I am suing for my bill.—Exchange.

When we plant a tree we are doing what we can to make our planet a more wholesome and happier dwelling place for those who come after us, if not for ourselves.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

"This operating a motorcar certainly does make lots of men conceited about what they can do."

"Well, but consider the opportunities it really forces on a man for blowing his own horn."

Suitor—So you told your father that I was earning $4,000 a year. What did he say?

The Girl—He said he knew you were getting that much, but he doubted you were earning it.

"I've got a lot of beans on my string," said the pretty candy clerk. "Have you?"

"Well, I do have a lot of callers on the line," admitted the central girl.—Baltimore American.

Mrs. De Fashion—Where's the morning paper? Mr. De F.—What on earth do you want with the morning paper? Mrs. De Fashion—I want to see if the play we witnessed last night was good or bad. New York Weekly.

Cities of Refuge.

In the tumultuous days of old, when every man's hand was against every other man and every other man's hand against him, when the principle of "due process of law" was practically unknown and private vengeance was the rule of the day, it was absolutely necessary that there should be some place to which one could fly for safety. Such were the "cities of refuge," of which there were six in Palestine. He who succeeded in reaching such a city when pursued by his would-be destroyer was safe until his right to protection was judicially decided. In all probability there were cities of refuge in other countries than Palestine.

Korea and Chosen.

Chosen is the oldest name for Korea and is Chinese in derivation. The history of the name of the country is briefly as follows: From about 960 A. D. the name of the country was Kori or Koryu. In 1392, when the last dynasty was founded, a still older name, Chosen or Choson (Chinese Choson, morning freshness or morning calm) was revived. In 1897 the kingdom was called Daihan by the Koreans, but it became officially Chosen in 1910 when it was annexed to Japan.
