

CANNY DOCTOR PUMPS FRIEND AND PROFITS

San Francisco Physician Lets
Patients Pay Him in Bonds
Rather Than Cash at Par

This reads or tastes or looks like the foam of a press agent's brew. But it isn't. It actually happened although it is propaganda.

There is a physician and surgeon of high professional standing in San Francisco who, if he wasn't Irish, would be Scotch. He is that canny.

The other day he met a friend of his, a stock and bond expert. "Doc," as his friends call him, is always looking for information. He pumps everybody and they like him for it. So the bond man wasn't a bit surprised when "Doc" shot this at him:

"How about the next Liberty Loan—It it going to get over?"

"It sure will," replied the bondman. "It's going to be the last and the best of the Liberty Loans."

"Advise me to load up?" persisted "Doc."

"I sure do—best security in the world—year from now it will be worth half again as much as you pay."

"Well, I figured it out that way myself," confessed the physician. "Of course I was going to buy anyway, but I think I'll strain everything a bit and really load up."

"Suppose you've got previous issues?" asked the bondman.

"Sure, and what's more I'm still piling those Liberty bonds up. Every time a patient offers them in payment I grab them. They look good to me."

"You're a wise guy—hang onto them, Doc. I've got a few myself. Gotta date with the wife—so long."

HALF BILLION SAVED ON AIRCRAFT BILL

Half a billion dollars was saved by the War Department up to April 1st by cancellation of aircraft contracts. These contracts, according to the government statement, are only a small part of the saving which has been made by abandonment of contracts for war material. In spite of these savings, the statement adds, material costing millions of dollars will have to be paid for largely through money to be raised in the Victory Loan.

Stung Again.

Two rookies were indulging in the soldier's privilege—growing about his station and how the soldier gets stung for everything.

"I ordered a chicken dinner at a cafe down town and they charged me a dollar and six bits," Bones was saying.

A newsie overheard him. "Say, mister," he said, "I know where you can get a chicken dinner for two bits. A good big one, too."

The soldiers looked skeptical, but the newsie insisted that he was telling the truth. Finally the soldier who had been stung asked where this place was located. The newsie mentioned an address on one of the side streets of San Antonio.

A few days later the two soldiers went to the city and determined to visit this cheap restaurant. They found the address. It was a feed store.—The Bayonet.

Never Broke a Food Law.

A German church journal tells the story of a professor, a conscientious man, who from the beginning of the war made up his mind to give strict obedience to any laws that might be laid down by those placed above him.

Most scrupulously did he observe all the food regulations. Never once did he give way to "hamstringing" and the clandestine food trafficker knew him not. He and his family were poorly clad, and often went to bed hungry; but his conscience remained clear and his honor bright.

"Good Lord, is this man still alive?" incredulously exclaims Vorwaerts of Berlin, the Socialist organ.

South Now Makes Pottery.

The effort to establish in the South a pottery for the manufacture of high-grade ware has, after many years, at last been successful. In 1917, for the first time, white ware was manufactured in the South. The Southern Pottery (Inc.), began to operate at Erwin, Tenn., a ten-kiln plant for the manufacture of semi-vitreous porcelain tableware, using domestic clays exclusively.

Wounded Soldiers.

This organization, which was complete from a medical and sanitary standpoint, consisted of a base hospital with a bed capacity for 200, one rolling canteen, two sanitary trains, one field first-aid unit and a disinfecting train.

Dr. Teusler cabled that there were in active service with his unit fourteen American and seven Japanese doctors and fifteen American and seventeen Japanese nurses. All the American doctors are volunteering their services. Dr. Teusler said he hoped to enlist thirty additional American doctors and fifty American nurses in the Orient.

MOBILE HOSPITALS AT FRONT.

It is the task of a mobile hospital to advance to the front lines with the troops to give first aid treatment to the wounded. The mobile hospital unit from base hospital No. 20, University of Pennsylvania, were commended by General Pershing for the courage they displayed under shell fire. Two Red Cross nurses were included in this special distinction for their bravery and devotion to duty.
