America's Answer Tells You

This pictorialization of the greatest war drama in all history has been made and is presented for public consideration, not to make money—although it must necessarily produce a revenue in order to meet the expenses involved—but in order to show the millions of contributors to the several Liberty Loans, the purchasers of Thrift and War Stamps, Tax payers and those who have so generously given in other ways for the needs of the war, exactly what has been accomplished in France during America's participation in The Struggle for Democracy.

While showing the tremendous industrial activities of the United States in France, growing out of the colossal needs of the war, "America's Answer" also replies in the thunderous roar of cannon and the driving force of America's soldier, to the Kaiser's declaration that "America wouldn't fight."

It is your duty, as well as your privilege, to see
