QUACK DENTISTS MENACE BRITONS

Inacking Conditions Revealed by Investigating Committee.

MEFORM URGED IN REPORT

Practice of Dentistry by Persons Whol-(y Unqualified Leads to Widespread Evils-Few Laws Regulating the Profession and These Are So Lenient That Almost Anyone Can Carry on General Practice - Few Real Americans There and Charges Are

A shocking condition of affairs has been called to public attention in Engdand by a report recently made by a committee appointed a year ago to investigate the extent of the evils conexected with the practice of dentistry | 000 provided in the post office approby persons wholly unqualified to practice that profession.

It will be hard for Americans, who, for many years, have had wonderful advantages in the care of the teeth, me realize how dentistry is practiced in England. There are a few laws and government acts controlling the practice, but they are so lenlent that alcarnet anyone, from a boiler maker to s fugitive bartender, can go out into the provinces and, with practically no draining at all, perform surgical operamians on the teeth and jaws, adminismering anesthetics and carrying on a speneral practice. America has quack descrists of the advertising variety but, sa cule, they have had some college graining or, at least, some little merit prectitioners. But in England the mévertising dentist may be by profession a janitor or a plumber.

In the report it was stated that the dental profession is suffering from the odium and dishonor cast upon it the uneducated and untrained perssens who are wandering about the country breaking teeth, and in some ceses causing deaths, through the immesper use of surgical instruments or

Quacks Operate in Pairs. Under the present condition of af-Twirs the traveling dentists, who are cally nothing but quacks, go about ongland in pairs. As a rule there is se man who has some little knowl-Ige of teeth, while his partner acts a canvasser, working mostly among iaboring classes soliciting trade for

While the chief is extracting sound weeth in one home, his canvasser is smorking next door convincing others chat they need dental attention.

The result of the malpractice in this profession has been widespread decay In the teeth of the proletariat. The working classes in England not only have bad teeth, but they actually sufder from the diseases caused by lack ast attention at the proper time. The Sheory on which the traveling dentist pines his trade is that once a tooth is saching and gets beyond the bearable stage it should be "pulled." In hundreds of cases patients suffer-The from an ache in one tooth have meveral pulled and a ser of false teeth your in to replace the sound teeth that maight possibly ache in the future. The schildren of the working classes have very little attention in the schools, and as a result they grow up with decayed and crooked teeth. There is a system of inspection which only goes to the point of advising dental attention, but makes no provision for such attention.

Reform Is Urged in Report. An illuminating part of the report Ms contained in the following para-

"The state cannot afford to allow the mealth of the workers of the nation to be continually undermined by dental regiect. Steps should be taken, without delay, to recognize dentistry as of general importance for prevent-Ing III health, and every possible means should be employed for enlightening the public as to the need for conserwative treatment of diseased teeth.

"The dental profession should be regarded as one of the outposts of prewentive medicine, and as such encouraged and assisted by the state. Treatment should be rendered available for all who need it. The present anomafous position, in which an uneducated, contrained person can practice as a denfist, performing surgical operations, is doing untold injury and casting undeserved dishonor upon the profession."

Registered dentists have not increased in numbers in England during the post 15 years, and no increase in the registration is likely while the profeszion is debased by incompetent indiwidness and companies.

The exorbitant charges for dental work in England also have had a bad effect on the general welfare. The most prominent dentists in London are those who have had training in American dental colleges, and they make much capital on their American train-

There are a few real American dentists in London, but they are overworked, and their prices are well nigh simpossible for the average man.
