JORDAN CHEESE FACTORY PRODUCT IN DEMAND

The factory of the Jordan Dairy Association near Seio is receiving daily about ten thousand pounds of milk and manufacturing between ten and eleven hundred pounds of cheese daily.

The factory is run on the co-operative plan. Each month's output of cheese is sold separately and after the expense of manufacturing is deducted the whole amount of butter fat for the month is divided into the cash on hand, giving the net price of butter fat for the month, which was 82c for April and 84c for May, milk testing four per cent bringing the dairyman $3.36 per hundred less the cost of delivery.

The factory is operated by Peter McIntosh who first made Tillamook cheese famous in the markets of the Pacific Coast. He believes that conditions are such in this section and most of the Willamette Valley that even finer cheese can be produced here than in the coast sections, and suggests the name "Willamette Cheese" for all first class goods made in the Willamette Valley under an association yet to be formed.

Harley was there on the stroke so was the stage driver but only his gun barrel was in sight. Few men would have survived the treacherous shot. But Harley—see "The Long Chance" Star Theatre Wednesday July 9th.

CASH FOR SOLDIERS INSTEAD OF FARMS

Congressman W. D. Hoies, of Iowa, urges that the government give all soldiers and sailors of the big war a cash gift instead of farms. He insists that the farm for soldier idea is "primarily backed by men who have swamps, strip and arid lands to dispose of."

When in Salem on the fourth of July stop into Willis Music Store and get a copy of the popular song: "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles."

In the Happiness of Peace

The long looked for peace treaty was signed last Saturday in the historical Hall of Mirrors by the German peace delegation and their conquerors. This is the end of the greatest war the world has ever known.

The final surrender was made in the presence of fifteen Dough-boys and the Great Assemblage of the World's most distinguished personages.

A MESSAGE TO SCHOOL CHILDREN

Carter Glass, Secretary of the Treasury in issuing a message to the school children of the state says:

"I summon you to solve one of America's greatest financial problems: How to make permanent among our people the habits of thrift begun during the war. Your investments in War Saving Stamps helped to win the war. The Victory has been won. Let us carry over into peace time two of the great lessons of the war—the value of thrift and the fact that good citizenship and interest in your government come from having a part in financing it. To you I intrust the responsibility for making the future America a nation of thrift."

If you have a little money no one can bully you. If you have none, you are more or less helpless and dare not speak up for your rights. It is not agreeable to be at anyone's mercy. If there were no other motive for saving, the wish to escape from such a situation ought to be sufficient. Uncle Sam offers a most attractive saving and investment proposition for all who would be independent in every sense of the word. He is selling Thrift Stamps at 25 cents each, and War Stamps at $4.17 each this month. Thrift Stamps are intended to take of the pennies, nickles and dimes and quarters, that otherwise might be spent foolishly. Thrift Stamps can be converted into War Saving Stamps on which the government pays four per cent interest compounded quarterly. As an investment for the wage-earner this proposition can't be beat and it is primarily for the wage-earner that the offer is made. Your banker will tell you so.

Premier Clemenceau put the direct question to the Germans whether they were willing to sign and execute loyally all the terms. The treaty was signed by Dr. Hermann Mueller at 3:12 and Dr. Johannes Bell, for the Germans, at 3:13. The American delegation signed in this order: Secretary Lansing, Henry White, Colonel House and General Bliss.

COMBAT WITH THEIR HEADS

Giraffes Have Distinctly Peculiar Method of Settling Differences That Arise Among Themselves.

While the giraffe can hardly be classed among the fierce duellists of the animal world, yet animals of this species are known to have their combats like those more ferocious fellows. The long-necked beast has an original and curious method of fighting. It has neither claws nor horn nor sharp teeth with which to defend or attack, so when it is out of temper with one of its kind it does not fly in the face of Providence by trying to disembowel its adversary, as a rhinoceros might, or tear it, as a tiger would. On the contrary, the giraffe, knowing that it has been provided by nature with a long and pliable neck terminating in a very solid head, uses the upper part of itself like a flail, and, swinging its neck around and around in a way that does immense credit to its organization, brings its head down at each swing with a thump on its antagonist.

The other combatant uses precisely the same tactics, and the two animals, planting themselves as firmly as possible by stretching out on all four legs to the utmost, stand opposite to each other, hammering away with their heads until one or the other has had enough. The head of the giraffe is furnished with two stumpy, hornlike processes, so that the animals when at this hammer-and-tongs mode of warfare, remind the spectator somewhat of two ancient warriors thumping each other with the spiked balls they used to carry for that purpose at the end of a chain.—New York Herald.

U. S. SAVES FARMERS MILLIONS

End of War Releases 151,000 Tons of Nitrates to Be Sold at Cost for Fertilizer.

Washington.—More than $1,500,000 will be saved by the farmers this year as a result of the action of the government in making available at reduced prices large quantities of nitrate for fertilizer.

After the armistice was signed the war department released to the department of agriculture 111,000 tons of nitrate explosives. To this quantity is added 40,000 tons received from Chile by the agricultural department, too late for distribution last year.

Under authority of the food control act the nitrate is to be sold at cost and already, says a statement by the department, farmers have taken up the full 151,000 tons in orders ranging from 200 pounds to 200 tons.

ELECTRIC LIGHT CO. MAKING IMPROVEMENTS

The Stayton Light and Power Co. has built a new generator room and is also putting in a new flume and water wheel. The dynamo that was damaged by fire last fall has been repaired and will be put in the new building. The work will be finished soon.

SUNDAY MORNING SPILL ON MAIN STREET

A team belonging to Tony Schulte created some little excitement on the streets Sunday morning, when when they started to run down main street. The tongue slipped through the neckyoke and the driver headed them for the bridge by the electric light plant. One of the horses went into the ditch and also one of the occupants of the rig. The horse was scratched a little and outside of a cold bath the outfit was none the worse for the run. It was a miracle that the horses and driver were not killed.
