GOLD FROM LEAD

Were we asked what single trick of mind best aids the worker, who through the years must play the routine tasks of bread earning, we would say, imagination.

Imagination alone can turn the lead of life into the gold of contentment.

The worker who heaves a heavy sigh at the start of each day's work, and who mentally ticks off the hours between morning and afternoon as links filed from his day's chain, is no whit better than the old faithful nag, head down, asleep on slowly lifting feet, without even a thought ahead for the day's end, and the box of oats.

The child spirit that makes a game out of each day's job is the greatest thing in the world and is as happy as it is unconquerable.

Lack of imagination drives folks to mad excesses, to escape a slavery that is all mental.

Much of the scramble for mere money would cease if we only understood that happiness neither comes with leisure, nor forsakes the most humble.

The soul with imagination does not stumble along the ratty rocky road, aching every inch of the way, not knowing where it is going, nor caring about the hills it has already climbed, only worrying about the bit of snag just ahead, and the mud hole just splashed through.

The blessed spirit comes whistling down the dark road through the woods, over the roots, around the stumps, beside the mud holes and knows them not, for its eyes are on the stars up there, smiling from the velvet, low-reaching heavens; its ears hear only the soft night voices of the marshes, and the scent of wild flowers making the journey so bewitching that at its end, when the Great White Door of Beyond is reached, the spirit pauses and wonders.

That the journey has been so short.

Non-Partisan League Missionaries

It is apparent that the North Dakota Non-Partisan League is doing some missionary work in western states.

Dr. C. H. Chapman, socialistic writer on Portland dailies, recently on the Portland Journal, is sent to Idaho.

He has taken the editorship of the leading Non-Partisan paper in that state and will also lecture for the cause.

The Portland Journal has put a man from the San Francisco Bulletin in charge of its state farm marketing bureau department.

He has had training along socialistic lines in connection with several movements to organize the farmer.

H. C. Cutting has been sent to North Dakota to exploit the Non-Partisan League achievements in a series of letters to the San Francisco Bulletin.

The Bulletin is the most pronounced of San Francisco exponents of socialistic theories and labor radicalism.

Thus the preliminary work is being done of cultivating the tillers of the soil in western states.

After awhile will come Mr. Townley's agents and harvest the $16 per.

He Is Coming.

"But a few short years ago, lay-dees and gentlemen," said the side show lecturer, in tones admirably adapted for declamatory purposes, "we had here, as our greatest living curiosity, that hideous human horror, the wild man of the Everglades, who three times a day leaped upon gurgling unles of r-r-r-raw and re-ee-eking flesh and devoured them with terrible ferocity and blood-curdling yells. He was in due course succeeded by the repulsive freak of nature you now see before you—the bestial and bristly bolshevik. He will not work, he never bathes, but day and night kicks incessantly, and in the unintelligible three-cornered language of his native land screams denunciations of everything in existence. Probably your after next he will be superseded by the last pedestrian, a white-eyed, shuddering wretch who will leap 15 feet sideways if you will make a noise like an auto horn."—Kansas City Star.
