E. D. ALEXANDER, Editor.

Entered as second-class matter March 29, 1915, at the post-office at Stayton, Ore., under the Act of March 3, 1879.

For District Attorney Walter E. Keyes

I am a candidate for the office of District Attorney at the primary election to be held the 19th day of May, 1916.

I was born and raised on a stock ranch in Eastern Oregon; I am thirty-five years of age and was educated for the most part in the city of Salem, where I have been engaged exclusively in the practice of law for the last ten years.

I assume there are two propositions paramount in the mind of every voter in selecting a candidate for this important office:

First: The honor and integrity of the man who seeks the place.

Second: His ability to fill the position if elected.

As to the first proposition, I think it is universally admitted that honor and integrity constitute man's most noble assets, regardless of whether he leads that of a public or private life. It would be far from becoming however, for me to state that I possess either of these two important virtues. I shall therefore only refer you to my many friends in Marion County in order that you may determine for yourself whether or not I measure up to the standard in this respect.

In a consideration of the second proposition I realize that the office of district attorney demands a person who has had actual experience in the trial of cases. In this connection however, I desire to state, that I am not without experience in the prosecution of criminal cases as I have handled many cases of this character both for the County of Marion and for the City of Salem. I have never held an elective office, but I served as special prosecutor in a number of cases for John H. McNary while he was district attorney and served as a deputy under Gale S. Hill during his tenure of office. For two different terms I was appointed by the common council as attorney for the city of Salem. It was during my tenure of office as city attorney that much of the hard surface pavement was laid in the city of Salem. I am very thankful to be able to say that while I was city attorney no liens were placed upon the city docket for the construction of streets, sewers or sidewalks, but what were held valid, and that of the many liens which were contested in the courts, every case was decided in favor of the city.

The duties of district attorney consist chiefly in the preparation and trial of cases and a discrimination against family quarrels and frivolous prosecutions. I believe that the laws of our state should be enforced. This is society's only protection. But I do not believe the docket should be crowded at the expense of the tax payers with cases where convictions cannot be procured. Nothing is gained in arraigning men before a court of justice only to have them discharged on account of insufficiency of evidence. What property I own, I have earned from the efforts of my own toil, and therefore appreciate that every officer should endeavor to operate with the least expense possible to effectively accomplish results.

If the people of Marion County repose in me the confidence of this office, I shall at all times perform my duties in accordance with my oath, and shall treat the public with due and courteous consideration.

Respectfully submitted,
WALTER E. KEYES.

For Representative Ivan G. Martin.

I am a candidate for the office of Representative at the primary election to be held the 19th day of May, 1916.

I am 35 years of age, grew up a farmer boy, am a member of one of Marion County's pioneer families, and am a taxpayer in three counties in Oregon. I hold diplomas from the University of California, and from three departments of the Willamette University, Salem, Oregon. I believe in conservation, encouragement of home industries, rural credits in some form and that the taxpayers money should be invested by the legislator just as carefully as he would invest his own funds.

As to my honor and integrity, I shall refer you to my many friends in Marion County in order that you may determine for yourself whether or not I measure up to the standard in this respect. The Salem Journal on which paper I was formerly employed for upwards of two years recently made the following unsolicited statement: "Ivan knows and is known by a majority of the citizens of Marion County and by everybody in Salem. He was born on a farm in 1881 and as he grew up in and with the country, he knows what hard work is, but also how much of it it takes to keep the taxes paid up, so can be depended on if elected to help hold them down to as low a figure as possible with the needs of the country. He was employed for some time on the Capital Journal as reporter and there learned to sift the sort of stories of the day—an accomplishment of value to the legislator. He is a practicing attorney, believes in building up industries, abolishing useless commissions and if elected will stand solidly for anything that helps the State or Marion county. He is well equipped for the office and the returns next May will, it is hoped, show the voters are of this opinion."

The Silvertown Tribune, in a recent editorial said, "In the nomination and election of men like Ivan G. Martin, and other candidates that might be named there will be no reason for regret."

I will say to the voters of Marion County, that I am not pledged to any interest other than the interest which I honestly believe to be yours and mine and if I am elected I will faithfully and to the best of my ability serve Marion county and Oregon.

George G. Bingham, who has announced his candidacy for the office of Circuit Judge in Marion and Linn counties, was born in West Salem, Wisconsin in 1855. He came to Oregon in 1873 and was admitted to the bar of this state seven years later, after graduating from the law department of the University of Michigan.

He has now practiced in Salem for thirty years, and is considered one of the leading attorneys of the state. With Mr. Bingham there will be no pretense of the "red-fire and brass-band" campaign; as he believes that the presentation of qualifications through the press is more befitting the office.

Mr. Bingham asserts, that if nominated and elected judge he will give careful and painstaking attention to the transaction of business in that office; will endeavor to ascertain what the law is and apply it to the facts in each particular case, recognizing that the stability of business interests depends upon the certainty of titles and the observance of well known business principles and rules. He further believes that leading the original conception of absolute justice to all, with an absence of pre-electoral promises, will make his position clear to the voter.
