O. F. SOCIAL

Foresters Have Interesting Gathering

Monday evening the I. O. O. F. was the scene of a very interesting and instructive gathering when members of the Catholic Order of Forester, their wives and children and a few in-guests met for a social of a sort of "get acquainted" as one of the speakers expressed it. Owing to the bad weather, not so many were present as expected, but nevertheless was a large attendance.

F. Klecker acted as master of ceremonies, and introduced the speakers in a pleasing manner. Chas. Hottinger was first on, and gave a resume of the work of the noted K. of C. Forester Peter Collins, whom he met in Salem recently. Mr. Hottinger gave an interesting lecture on the substance of which was "Harmony" or the of it, in all phases of life.

Next speaker was Anton Handel, of Sublimity, who in an interesting manner explained the benefits to be derived from membership in the order. He explained that the cost to a man was not high, and insurance should be taken before ill-health prevented.

Stayton Orchestra was introduced and gave a couple of pleasing selections.

Spaniol, Chief Ranger of the Court, and Anrew Fery, Forester, gave good talks on the benefits of a membership in the foresters, as did also John Cartette composed of Dr. A. Beauchamp, Dr. Pint-Stanley A. Starr sang "Belle Mahone" in a very pleasing manner, and as an encore a song about a little who went fishing "all on a morning," which was applauded.

Hottinger was again upon, but referred the matter back to Mr. Klecker, who entertained talk on the value of harmony in the family, the community, the fraternal and other organizations, and the value of insurance in the Foresters. He closed by reading a portion of a speech by Peter Collins on the fallacy of socialism.

Dr. Beauchamp was asked to give the company a talk. The Dr. responded by saying that he was examiner for a number of insurance organizations and that the medical examination of the Foresters was the most stringent of all, hence there was small opportunity for anyone but a perfectly well person to become a member; he spoke of the value of membership to young men for its insurance, and impressed upon them the benefit to be secured from an opportunity to learn the business routine of the order, and to be able to arise before an audience and express his views without embarrassment. He declared that the opportunity given a young man by an organization of this kind to learn to stand up and say what he has to say in a proper manner is worth money to him, and he believed all Catholic young men should become members. The Dr's remarks were loudly applauded.

Anton Heiderer was present with his accordion and entertained with several fine selections and the orchestra played several numbers between the speeches.

At the close of the program of speeches and music, the company was called upon to partake of an excellent lunch. This was followed by games and dancing, with Anton Heiderer as musician. It was a late hour before the festivities closed.

The occasion was one of pleasure and profit to those present and the members of the order are to be congratulated on the success of the event.

The Catholic Order of Foresters is a worthy institution and Catholic men—young and old—who can do so should become members.

Rebekah's Hold May Festival

The Third Annual May Pageant given by the Rebekah lodge on Friday evening, was a success in every detail. The decorations were many and very beautiful, the most superb of which was the throne that had been constructed across one end of the lodge room, and which was a veritable bower of flowers.

Miss Malana Sestak was charming as Queen of the May and was attended by Misses Milca Roy and Grace Tiffany, who were daintily attired in blue. Margaret Schaefer, as Spirit of May, crowned the Queen. The Queen's Procession was a beautiful spectacle and was made up mostly of children. Another feature was the Winding of the May pole, without which no May day festivities are complete.

An excellent program had been arranged and all the numbers were well received. The High School Orchestra furnished several selections throughout the evening.

After the program a social time was enjoyed. Then there were candy and punch booths and in the dining room ice cream and cake was served at tastily appointed tables.

After the festivities, Mr. C. A. Beauchamp invited all who cared to dance up to his hall, where an enjoyable time was had dancing.

J. T. Hunt for Commissioner

J. T. Hunt of Sublimity, candidate for county commissioner, was in the city over Tuesday night. He has many admirers and supporters here who know the man and know that he is the man for the place to which he aspires. And yet he did not aspire for this or any of the many other offices which his friends have been urging him in the past to run for, but he has always refused. He would not now be out for county commissioner if it were not that about 150 taxpayers insisted upon him doing so. He stands strictly upon his own merits. He is a big taxpayer, a successful farmer and business man, has a mind of his own, and taxpayers all over the county are anxious to have him represent them. He has never before asked for office and is only out now because he wants Marion county to have a strictly business and economical administration. —Woodburn Independent.

All kinds of print paper have advanced from 25 to 50 per cent. The paper you are reading costs one-fourth more than it did a month ago. The war is assigned as the cause. Colored print paper of many shades cannot be obtained.

J. N. Weddle, who has been confined to his home all winter with a broken leg, we are glad to state, is able to get about the house and will soon be able to be down in town. The bones have now knit properly and he expects to be as well as ever in a short time. —Scio Tribune.

Monroe Nye, of Turner, candidate for county commissioner, was a caller today. Mr. Nye is making a hard campaign for the office. He is opposed to a county road supervisor, and favors having the county divided into three districts with a commissioner elected from each district. Mr. Nye is an old schoolmate of J. R. Miller.

George Keech, Republican candidate for representative, was in the city Saturday looking around in the interest of his campaign. Mr. Keech has lived near Stayton for a number of years and has demonstrated his ability as a business man and a financier. That he will make a good representative cannot be disputed. He has made a tour of the county and finds strong support, particularly in the rural districts. —Silverton Tribune.

As there are only ten days more before the primary election it might be well to advise our readers to take time and pains to study your sample ballot and pick out your choice now, so that when you go to the polls to vote you can put your X in the right place. Many of the voters, especially when voting for candidates for the legislature make their X opposite the first five without stopping to think who they are voting for, when they really intend to vote for a different person. And likewise in voting for other offices. Look well before you make your X.

A unique exhibition has been arranged for for festival week at Portland for the benefit of the farmers of Oregon. Tractors will demonstrate the latest and most scientific methods of modern farming at the 1916 Rose Festival at Portland, June 7, 8 and 9. All the latest types of tractors and engines will be shown at work and a parade will precede the contest. The exhibition will take place the morning of June 8, second day of the festival.

Since the Columbia river highway, to receive its national dedication June 7, presents the highest type of road building in the world, it will also prove of interest to farmers to inspect the highway and note how the gorge of the Columbia was made passable for the first time in history for vehicles of all kinds where the maximum grade does not exceed five per cent through the mountainous region.

It is felt that the program for this year's festival will be more attractive than ever before. As an inducement to all to attend the Festival, the Southern Pacific will have low round-trip fares, namely from points Roseburg and north, main line and branches, June 4th to 9th inclusive, final return limit June 12th.

Churches Unite in Evangelistic Work

With the Protestant churches all throwing their forces together in the series of special meetings being held at the Methodist Episcopal church of Stayton under Evangelist John Lewtas, the attendance at the service is growing very satisfactorily to those in charge of the movement. On Sunday afternoon the auditorium held a large audience of women only when the speaker gave his address on "The Twentieth Century Woman." The morning and evening services necessitated the throwing open of the Epworth league room that the course might be seated. Taking into consideration the attendance at all the services, the afternoon and evening, it is said that the audiences doubled during the first week of the special effort. Next Sunday afternoon Mr. Lewtas will speak to men only.

School Notes

For the benefit of the baseball team a demonstration will be given on the school grounds Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, by the physical training department under the direction of Miss Grace Tiffany.

Previous to the demonstration the last Parent-Teachers meeting of the year will be held and at six o'clock the girls of the high school will serve a cafeteria lunch.

A small admission fee of five and ten cents will be charged for the demonstration, while the lunch will be served at five cents for each thing ordered. Come bring your friends and have a good time and incidentally help the baseball boys.

Mr. Shepherd visited the high school Tuesday. Mr. Shepherd is a Civil War veteran and is very much interested in the work of our school. Mr. Shepherd was at one time a member of the school board.

Funeral Held

The funeral service of J. W. Hickman was held Saturday, conducted by Rev. Young, of Albany, and interment was made in the Wisner cemetery, near Kingston, a large number of friends and neighbors being present to pay their last respects.

He leaves one daughter, Mrs. Thos. Fleming, of Linn county, and two step-sons, B. Lovelace, of Oklahoma, and W. A. Lovelace, of Ft. Simco, Wash. The latter, with his wife, was present at the funeral.
