The appraisal of lots and parcels of land in the townsite of Port Angeles, Wash., by the commission appointed by Secretary Noble has been approved by the Interior Department. The commission of the general land office is now preparing instructions to the proper Registrar and Receiver for the sale of said lots and parcels of land. The settlers under the law are entitled to purchase at the appraised value the town lot on which they live and any other on which they may have made valuable improvements. The remaining lands are to be sold to the highest bidder above the appraised value. The whole townsite aggregates about 2,000 acres.

FURRY PERSONAL.

William C. Todd, who recently gave $100,000 to the Boston public library to support a newspaper reading room, is 70 years old and a graduate of Dartmouth in the class of 1866.

Mrs. Annie Moore, who has the reputation of being the only woman President of a national bank (Mount Pleasant, Tex.), is described as a dark-complexioned woman, with positively brilliant eyes and soft voice and gentle manner.

Robert Buchanan appears to be turning pessimist. He says of literature that it is "one of the least satisfying of the professions, and that teaches 'not just one individual who has not deteriorated morally by the pursuit of literary fame.'"

Ex-Governor N. S. Berry of Bristol, N. H., who, if he lives, will be 92 years old on September 1 next, is well and active. He reads and writes daily, and keeps fairly posted upon all of the important occurrences of the day.

James Whitcomb Riley says that composition is a severe matter with him. He makes so many false starts, corrects and erases that he is ashamed to let any one see his work, and that he has copied. He modestly says that he isn't at all proud of it even then.

The chief of the interpreters at the World's Fair, Charles A. Barry, is a member of the American language. He is President of the Columbia International Association of Interpreters, the members of which are employed by exhibitors to talk to visitors in their own language.

Miss Winnie Davis, daughter of Jefferson Davis, is in Chicago to see the World's Fair as the guest of Mrs. Josephine Davis. It is noted as a coincidence that Mrs. Philip H. Sheridan is visiting Chicago at the same time, and that her hotel is only two blocks away from Miss Davis'. It is the intention of her friends that the two women shall soon meet.

General Averill, whose cavalry division was famous during the war, is 86 years of age. He is a member of the National Soldiers' Bureau. He was wounded three times during the rebellion, but remained at the front until the end. His famous raid on Lookout Mountain was one of the master-strokes of the war, and received due recognition.

When Booth was playing "Richard" in Chicago in 1870 a mentally unbalanced spectator named Gray shot at the actor twice from the gallery. One of the bullets hit Booth's neck, and he was set in a gold carriage, upon which he had engraved the words: "From Mark Gray to Edwin Booth, April 2, 1871." This grim reminder he always carried with him.

General Longstreet lived in the "White House" near the ruins of his fine old mansion in Central Georgia, which was burned a few years ago. The house was a large, two-story building, and was one of the finest in the South.

May is going to be an example to young couples starting in life. The royal pair will have a little cottage at Sandringham, which contains besides a bedroom, a study, a sitting room, a study or office for the use of the Duke. It is simply fitted up with light and inexpensive furniture, and is altogether a very modest dwelling.

James M. Sparks of Tennessee has been appointed Consul at Piedras Negras, Mexico, and thereby hangs a tale. During President Cleveland's first administration Major Sparks sent to the executive mansion three opossums, fat and toothsome from the Tennessee mountains. The President never forgot the gift, and when Major Sparks was in Washington last spring Mr. Cleveland asked if the Tennesseean wouldn't like to be Consul. The reply was in the affirmative, and the appointment followed. The opossums did the business.

The feature of the Literary Congress was a paper by Charles Dudley Warner on the function of literary criticism in the United States.

It has been decided by the council of administration to maintain the department of promotion and publicity until the close of the fair, with Major Moses P. Handy as chief.

Chief Allison of the manufacture building of the World's Fair, expelled R. H. Ingels, a New York, with a novel firm, for persistently violating the rules against selling goods.

The ground has been broken at the south end of the anthropological building, known as the "Museum of Man," as a part of the Massachusetts exhibit. In it Miss Maria Daniel of Boston will show scientific methods of cooking the cheaper classes of food so as to be palatable and nourishing and in the sanitary branch the best means of cooking for the sick and convalescent.

If the army bill passes, as now seems probable, it is believed that Emperor William of Germany will visit the World's Fair. An attaché of the German commission is authority for this statement. The German Department of State in reply to the question as to how the Emperor would be received here has been informed by the Consuls in the United States that he would meet with a hearty greeting.

The special committee appointed by the World's Fair National Commission to report upon the facilities for saving life in case of a fire in any of the exhibition buildings reported to that body recently. It recommended the establishment of a corps of men, to be known as a life-saving crew, to be furnished with all modern appliances for saving life, this corps to be stationed at some central point within the park. The report was adopted.

Oregon is one of the States that will receive daily shipments of ripe fruit and fresh vegetables in season to renew her exhibits at the World's Fair. She is now receiving cherries and strawberries, and the shipments have all come through in fine condition, establishing the truth of the statement that Oregon fruits are good shippers. In that State's exhibit in the Fisheries building one of the most attractive displays of the whole fair has been holding the crowds about the Oregon booth during the past few days. It consisted of fresh royal chinook salmon from the Columbia river. The largest fish weighed eighty-two pounds, and was the largest salmon ever caught in the West. These fish were frozen in ice, and were taken through the Coast, and they came through nicely in that shape. They looked beauties through the crystal ice.
