Volcanoes paying for a volcano slide at Big Toy

By CRAIG MURPHY
Of the Keizertimes

It would be expected for any large structure like the Big Toy being planned for Keizer Rapids Park to have a slide or two.

How can a slide get a Keizer twist? Well, a volcano slide would do the trick.

Jerry Walker, owner of the Salem-Keizer Volcanoes baseball team, has pledged funding to help create such a thing for Keizer’s youth.

“That’s what we’re doing,” said Walker, who brought the Volcanoes to town at the then-new Volcanoes Stadium in 1997. “We’re going to do a volcano at the Big Toy.”

Walker has committed $7,500 towards the project, $1,000 of which has already been paid. He has pledged a maximum of $500 for a replica of Crater, the team’s mascot.

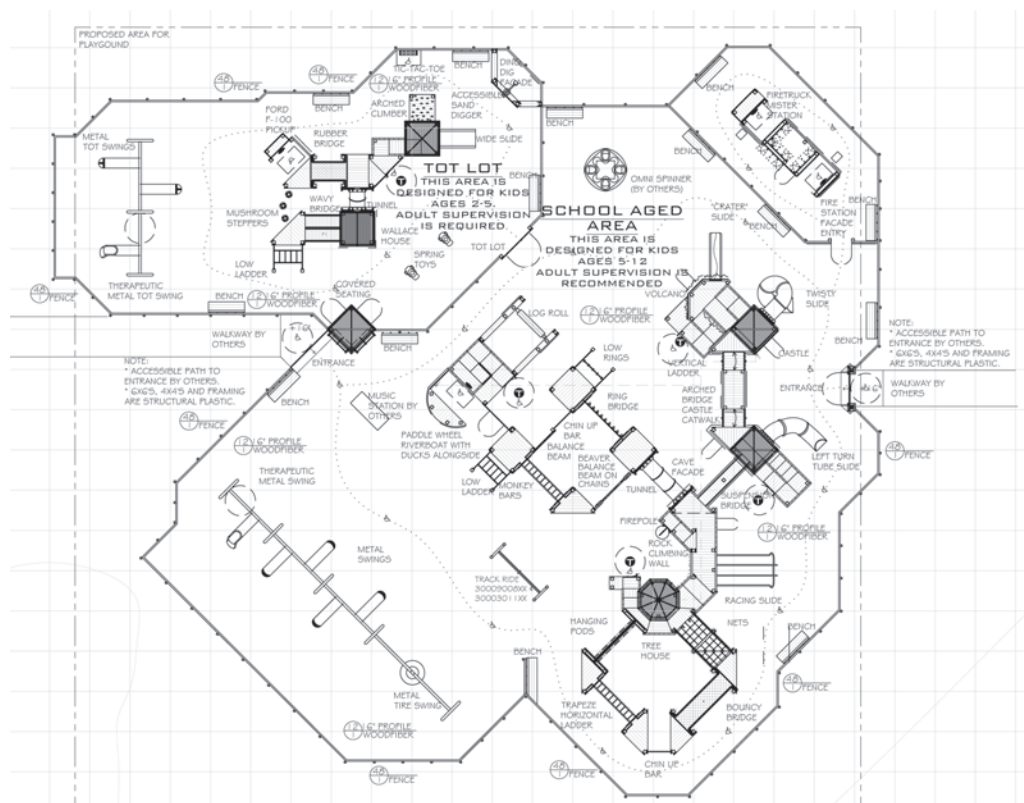

“We’re waiting for a design,” Walker said. “I haven’t seen a final design yet, only what the committee has shown. There will be a big volcano, with several different thoughts on how kids will climb to the top. They will have a nice slide down. When they get to the top, Crater will be there. They will slide down between his legs, going down the slide to the bottom.”

If possible, Walker would like to see a mister incorporated into the design to shoot out fog, like what Crater uses each May during the Iris Festival parade and like what the scoreboard at Volcanoes Stadium uses.

“One concept was to have steam or mist coming out of the volcano, like it is putting off some smoke,” Walker said. “I would like to see that if it’s possible. It’s absolutely safe for the environment. If not, regardless we will have a slide with Crater at the top.”

Walker has no doubt the final product will work.

“They told me I get to approve the final design,” he said. “I’m sure it will be fine. It should be great.”

Former Mayor Lore Christopher, who has ramped up her efforts recently to sell Big Toy components, noted project general coordinator Mark Caillier will be working with consultant Leathers and Associates to design the volcano slide.

“We will work on sourcing Crater,” Christopher said in an e-mail. “This is so exciting. It will be a signature piece for Keizer. No one else has a Crater.”

Attempts to reach project manager Kyle Cundy from Leathers were unsuccessful, but Caillier expects a redone design to be ready soon.

“We may have to adjust the perimeter for the volcano,” Caillier said. “The consultant is redoing the design to make it flow better. I talked to Kyle; she said the designers are working on it.”

public hearings

An application will be before the Land Use Hearings Officer on Thursday, March 12 at 6 p.m. about the proposed subdividing of a .98 acre parcel into seven lots ranging in size from 5,016 to 9,103 square feet. The property address is 7130 Wheatland Road NE. The applicants are Patrick and Robyn Morley on behalf of Modelia II Corp. The hearing will take place in council chambers at Keizer Civic Center, 930 Chemawa Road NE.

The Keizer City Council will consider a supplemental budget for the 2014-15 fiscal year budget at its meeting on Monday, March 16. The meeting will take place at 7 p.m. in council chambers at Keizer Civic Center.

Pinot for the Parks event March 13 to help Big Toy

The third annual Pinot for the Parks fundraiser takes place Friday, March 13.

The event, put on by the Keizer Parks Foundation, runs from 6 to 9 p.m. at the Keizer Civic Center, 930 Chemawa Road N. Tax-deductible tickets are $25, with proceeds being dedicated to the Big Toy project at Keizer Rapids Park.

Four local wineries (Arcane Cellars at Wheatland Winery, Illahe Vineyards, Mia Sonatina Cellars and Willamette Valley Vineyards) will be on hand to offer tastings and wine by the glass, bottle or case. In addition, The Growl Movement will offer tastings and glasses of microbrew beer.

Four food vendors will be on hand with $5 food plates. Extreme Chocolates will have pulled pork sandwiches, Incredible Edibles will have wood-fired pizza, Big Town Hero will have seafood sandwiches and Willamette Cheese Company will have craft cheese.

There will also be a silent auction for gift baskets, dinners, jewelry and more at the event.

Tickets are available at Big Town Hero or by contacting Jeanne Bond-Esser at (503)
