

SIGN,

T&C Manager Mardi Smith said the decision to put up the sign rested solely with Lebold and distanced herself and other employees from the message contents.

Smith said phones at the establishment began ringing off the hook Wednesday even as Lebold himself was taking the sign down.

"We learned today that we've lost three homeschool groups that bowl with us and we've been removed from Google, Yahoo and Bing search engines as advertisers. We will have to pay a fee to get back on those sites," Smith said.

Lebold said he was "in no way trying to offend anyone. I just feel that as a country we are walking away from Godly principles and we are going to have to pay for that some day."

Lebold offered no apologies for the sign beyond saying he felt that the wording was being taken more harshly than he intended. He has featured Biblically inspired messages in the past and added he'd received nothing but support for those messages.

"I condemn the sin and love the sinner," Lebold said. "I love all people. We can disagree about the way things are going, but I put up a message on the reader board and the non-Christians are interpreting it in a way I didn't mean whatsoever."

By the end of the day Wednesday, the offending message had been replaced with one thanking the community for voting Town and Country "Best in the Valley" each year.

"I've run this business in a Christian way for 48 years," Lebold said.
