Other players returning after making significant contributions last season include: Michael Reyes, Jorge Garcia, Bryan Keo, Jose Vazquez and Luis Audelo. Camarena was also excited about the prospects of freshman goalkeeper Sebastian Lopez.

“The main thing for them now is working on new systems of play, which is possible because of the high quality of the players,” Camarena said.

While offense and defense are going to be key to winning individual games, both Villalvazo and Reyes said it was something else that made their miracle season possible.

“All the games we won last year was because we played with heart, and I want to show the new players how to play with heart,” Villalvazo said.

“It’s our job to keep the players motivated because if there is no morale there is no heart to play with. If we start really strong, I think we can finish strong,” Reyes added.
