Today in History

George Washington lays the cornerstone to the United States Capitol building. The building would take nearly a century to complete, as architects came and went, the British set fire to it and it was called into use during the Civil War.

Early sales of recreational marijuana allowed in Keizer, with restrictions

By CRAIG MURPHY
Of the Keizertimes

Two more motions regarding marijuana have been passed by the Keizer City Council.

Councilors approved the “early sales” provision of recreational marijuana at their Sept. 8 meeting and also approved of having no tax on those sales.

The subject was a follow-up to similar issues raised during the Aug. 17 council meeting.

Senate Bill 460 allows early sales of recreational marijuana at licensed medical marijuana facilities from Oct. 1, 2015 to Dec. 31, 2016, when the bill sunsets. Only .25 ounces of marijuana can be sold each day to any individual, who must be at least 21 years old. The marijuana is limited to leaves, flowers, seeds and a plant that is not flowering.

“This makes the city ordinance consistent with state laws and it will make the early sales allowed at those facilities to start on Oct. 1,” city attorney Shannon Johnson said.

Johnson said no tax on early sales would be prudent.

“Trying to tax early sales on the local level would be an uphill battle,” he said. “This provides there would be no tax on those early sales.”

Mayor Cathy Clark asked what the ordinances mean for facilities in the future.

“Will they eventually be separate facilities, or will it be one person with two sets of clientele?” Clark asked.

Johnson noted there was no answer yet.

“My understanding is that hasn’t been decided at the state level” he said. “It’s interesting that large of an issue wasn’t decided by the legislature.”

Johnson pointed to the timing issue.

“Oct. 1 is right around the corner and the legislature doesn’t meet for several months,” Johnson said. “Most of the other cities are taking a hard line and banning it so the tax issue doesn’t come up.”

In other council business Sept. 8:

- Dave Walery and some of his elves were on hand to show off new LED Christmas lights. Assisting Walery in the presentation were Bob Zielinski, current president of the Keizer Chamber of Commerce and Ron Freeman, who along with wife and councilor Kim has been part of the group putting lights up each year.

For the most part, the new lights are wrapped around existing light structures, meaning lower cost plus less replacing needed in the future due to the LED technology.

Due to a funding cut, Mr. Christmas – aka Walery – stepped up to help out.

“The city didn’t have enough for the entirety, so Mr. Walery paid for some of it out of his own pocket,” city manager Chris Eppley noted.

Mayor Cathy Clark (left) honored local Daughters of the American Revolution members Ruby Pantalone and Patricia Baker by declaring Sept. 17 as Constitution Week.

“He just give out of his heart,” Clark added.

Walery noted he keeps helping out with the lights.

“Rumor is you can’t get off once you’re on,” Walery said with a chuckle.

Clark and others were highly appreciative of the new lights.

“These are beautiful,” the mayor said. “Thank you, thank you, thank you. That is just fantastic.”

- Two open seats on the Keizer Budget Committee were filled, as councilors appointed Jonathan Thompson and Nelson Sossamam to the positions. Those two were the only ones who applied.

- Councilors approved the temporary usage and signage at Town & Country Lanes for Keizer’s next public mural, which at this point is scheduled to be done next spring. As part of the approval, the temporary signage “Join Keizer’s mural project 2016. www.keizer.org” was approved.

- Constitution Week was proclaimed, as Sept. 17 marked the 228th anniversary of the framing of the U.S. Constitution. Ruby Pantalone and Patricia Baker from the Anna Marie Pittman Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution were on hand.

- Councilors agreed to vacate a portion of Manbrin Drive NE near the intersection of Cherry Avenue NE to MMAK LLC. The 2,021 square feet of space will be used for landscaping and for the installation of a sign.

Schrader talks transportation

By CRAIG MURPHY
Of the Keizertimes

Long-term plans call for improvements to the Interstate 5/Chemawa Road interchange in Keizer.

A model of how to do it may be barely 10 miles to the north.

U.S. Rep. Kurt Schrader (D-Canby) was among the dignitaries on hand for the ribbon cutting of the Woodburn Interchange and Transit Facility project on Monday morning.

That afternoon, Schrader visited with the Keizertimes editorial board to talk about transportation, among other topics.

“At the state and the federal level we need to get our act together for transportation funding, something states can count on for funding,” Schrader said. “We need to be competitive globally. The surface transportation package is one of the big ones.”

Schrader said getting votes to support large transportation projects in Washington, D.C. is getting more and more difficult. “We have the mantra these days that all spending is bad,” Schrader said. “It’s capital funding versus operational funding. I agree with the Republicans about the operational funding. But one of the arguments that gets brought up is the bridge to nowhere. Well, a bridge to nowhere would not exist under the current rules.”

Schrader was impressed with what he saw in Woodburn.

“The Woodburn interchange is vastly improved,” he said. “Truck after truck was going by (on Highway 219).

public hearings

The Keizer City Council will hold a public hearing on Monday, Sept. 21 for an appeal of the Land Use Hearing Officer’s decision to deny an application to subdivide 5.73 acres of land into 32 lots on Burbank Street. The meeting starts at 7 p.m. in council chambers at Keizer Civic Center.

The Keizer City Council will also hold a hearing on Sept. 21 to consider proposed text amendment to specify early sales of marijuana at medical marijuana facilities.
