Keizertimes owners buy weekly paper

Malheur Media LLC, a division of Wheatland Publishing Corp., owner of the Keizertimes, purchased the Malheur Enterprise in Vale and took over Oct. 1.

Scotta Callister, former Keizertimes publisher and recently retired editor of the Blue Mountain Eagle in John Day, will serve as publisher of the Enterprise. Lyndon Zaitz, publisher of the Keizertimes, will serve as general manager, working out of the Keizer office. Les Zaitz, co-owner of Wheatland Publishing, will serve in an advisory role.

The Malheur Enterprise, a weekly newspaper, covers the news of Malheur County, in southeast Oregon along the Idaho border.

New look at Porter's

Arthur L. (Art) Burr

Nov. 8, 1928 – Oct. 1, 2015

Born in 1928 to Arthur Leslie and Viola (Martin) Burr, Art Burr lived in both Seattle and on Vashon Island prior to his graduation from the University of Washington in 1952.

He began work then and through the next 35 years in the Salem district office of the Bureau of Land Management, rising from assistant timber appraiser to area manager.

He leaves behind his beloved wife of 61 years, Phyllis Jean (Ahalt)

Burr along with their three children: Linda, Leslie and Eric, daughter-in-law Kara Burr and two grandchildren, Marcus and Anna.

Art was, at various times, active in the U.S. Naval Reserve, Society of American Foresters, Chemeketans, First Congregational Church, Food Share, Meals-on-Wheels and the Keizer Community Library.

In lieu of a formal service, Art asked for a party. In his own words: "Hopefully it will make up somewhat for my reputation as the world's No. 1 party pooper."

The family requests friends, associates and family members to join together in a celebration of life on Oct. 9 from 1 to 3 p.m. on the second floor of the Keizer Heritage Center (the library building) at 980 Chemawa Road NE in Keizer.
