emergency kit with necessary supplies for up to two weeks.

"Have a family plan with meeting places and multiple communication plans," she said. "Designate an out-of-state contact. Local phone lines will likely be bogged down, but a long distance call may go through. Know the location of emergency mass sheltering locations."

Storms suggested having individual bags for each person in the family and a 72-hour kit.

"Plan on being away from home and having to make a shelter," she said. "You want to make it mobile. Everything should be individually packaged. You can have individual bags for each person, but that can be heavy for younger children. One idea is a rolling suitcase. Most of us have that suitcase the airline destroyed. I use them for storage at home all the time."

Storms said to have a gallon of water per person each day in the 72-hour kit as well as foods that won't spoil and are easy to make.

"You want proteins, which will keep you fuller," Storms said. "You want good, hearty calories."

Storms recommended foods such as oatmeal, jerky, peanut butter, granola bars, canned fruit, power bars and meat in a can. She also suggested some foods that make you happy, like chocolate bars, as well as at least a three-day supply of medicines and personal care items.

"I love baby wipes," Storms said. "I carry them everywhere. They are gold in my world."

Other items recommended by Storms included unisex deodorant, an old pair of glasses, a first aid kit, a blanket, a multipurpose tool, several knives, a whistle, batteries and more.

Storms puts her supplies in a trash can and has items that would help with a long-term displacement. That includes multiple bottles of water, toilet paper, tools, flashlights, bleach, duct tape, old towels and blankets, old tennis shoes, plates and more.

"If you're going towards two months, you need to be ready," Storms said. "Put it at the exterior garage wall, hopefully close to a door. It's even better to have it in a shed."

Her trash can also included a bucket that can be used as a bathroom or a dish washing bin, sweatpants, trash bags, first aid kits, plastic silverware, lighters, can openers and sharpies.

"Especially if you're without a place for three months, you need to help each other out with your neighbors," Storms said. "Maybe they have no tents, but you have two. When pushing the three-month mark, you have to work together. Not just to survive, but to thrive."

fun is to find your spot."

"Unfortunately, we have more and more people that have a lack of hunting etiquette. They don't have respect for other hunters, the animals, or the environment."

He shared with me a humorous incident while guiding in Wyoming. "My friend kidded me about taking my rifle to the outhouse. Later he came out and there stood a grizzly. We spent about as much time chasing bears away as we did hunting."

Back to the draw:

"A lot of people don't apply for some great hunts because they think you have to have a lot of money. They only draw one tag. It could be yours."

Smoke Shop located at 3926 River Road North, but later released.

"We have a guy detained here and a guy at Smoke Shop," Kuhns said at JC's Monday. "A Salem Police K-9 has started a track from the Bi-Mart."

Madrid was arrested on five criminal charges: attempted murder, first degree assault, unlawful use of a weapon, felon in possession of a firearm and parole violation. He is being held without bail at the Marion County Correctional Facility.

"Kyle Madrid is well known to law enforcement in the mid-Willamette Valley as he has an extensive criminal history," Kuhns said.

Madrid previously has had permanent addresses in Keizer and Salem, but was a transient at the time of his arrest.

Kuhns said the shooting was not random.

"Investigators have established the suspect and victim knew each other prior to the shooting," Kuhns said. "There is no reason to believe this was a stranger-to-stranger encounter."

Anyone who witnessed the incident or believes they saw the suspect fleeing on foot from the scene of the crime is asked to contact KPD Detective Andrew Phelps at 503-390-3713 Ext. 3497.

A number of police officers were at the Keizer Bi-Mart parking lot within minutes of Monday's shooting.

Part of the Bi-Mart parking lot at 3862 River Road was taped off and a handgun was laying on the ground as Sgt. Greg Barber watched over the area. Numerous police vehicles quickly converged in the parking lot.

"We believe the handgun that was left at the scene of the crime was the weapon used to commit these crimes," Kuhns said.

The shooting occurred less than a day after an armed robbery at the One Stop Smoke Shop, almost next door to Bi-Mart along River Road. Counting the fatal car vs. pedestrian accident near that shop on March 11, there have been three serious incidents within 10 days in about a 100-yard radius.

According to police, an armed robbery occurred at the Smoke Shop around 8:30 p.m. March 20. In that case, a white male entered the store, brandished a handgun and demanding money from the store employee.

The male was described as being 5'10" and 250 to 275 pounds, wearing a navy blue sweatshirt with the hood pulled over his head, a dark bandana and blue jeans. The suspect was given an undisclosed amount of cash and took off immediately. There was one customer in the store and one employee at the time, but no one was injured in the robbery.

A K-9 search of the area was conducted, but the suspect was not located.

Kuhns said the Sunday and Monday incidents are being treated as completely separate events.

"We do not have any reason to believe at this time that there is any connection between this attempted murder and the armed robbery that occurred at the One Stop Smoke Shop the night before this incident," Kuhns said.

A perfect moment to talk about alcohol.

An alarming number of pre-teens are drinking alcohol – which makes it urgent to find every opportunity to talk to your kids about the dangers of underage drinking. For tips on how – and when – to begin the conversation, visit:
