Council approves water, sewer rate increase for January 2017

By ERIC A. HOWALD
Of the Keizertimes

The Keizer City Council approved hikes in water and sewer rates at its meeting Monday, June 20.

The 4 percent water rate increase and 9 percent sewer rate increase will both take effect January 1, 2017.

Water increases coincide with a plan to cover the costs of $10 million in infrastructure improvement and will result in an additional $45,000 for those efforts. Sewer increases pay for existing staffing levels, contractual services, plant maintenance, operating materials and pipe extensions and repairs.

For the average single-family home, the water rate bump will amount to approximately 50 cents per month, or $1 per billing cycle. For a multi-family dwelling, the increase will be approximately $5 per month or $10 per billing cycle. For commercial users, the increase will average approximately $1.50 per month or $3 per billing cycle.

Sewer rates are charged per equivalent service unit (ESU), which is the average permeable surface area of a particular type of property. Residential users will see an average increase of $1 per billing cycle; an apartment complex will notice an increase of about $45 per billing cycle; a school's rate will increase approximately $95 per billing cycle; and a large retailer will see around a $90 increase. The city expects to collect an additional $68,000 with the 50 cent-per-ESU increase.

The increases are timed for the same month so users aren't hit with additional charges over the course of the year and ensure "today's customers will not bear the entire cost for improvements that will benefit future customers and future customers will not be burdened with all of the costs incurred today," according to documents prepared by city staff.

In other business:

- The council approved the city budget with a vote of 6-1.

Councilor Amy Ryan voted against the approval citing the lack of funding for an additional police officer, which was left out of the budget for a second consecutive year.

- Approved a measure for the November ballot seeking voter approval to attach a 3 percent tax to sales of recreational marijuana.

The city may collect the tax directly or it may be directed through the Oregon Department of Revenue.

Water rates will increase 4 percent, sewer rates to rise 9 percent.
