

SWIM: Holiday tops Northview

The same four girls also won the medley relay.

Alex Beard won the IM and breaststroke. Antonia Gonzales took first in the backstroke.

Claire Hicks dominated the Under-6 division, winning the fly, back and free. She also swam on the winning 7-8 free relay team with Ella Gerig, Kaiya Turner and Cassidy Kerner. Individually, Gerig also won the IM for Holiday.

In the 9-10 division, Alex Willcoxon finished first in the freestyle and Erika Robinett won the breaststroke. The two joined Kyra Norstrom and Maya Privratsky to win the free and medley relays.

Emma Privratsky was the first to reach the wall in the 13-14 free and Kassy Winters had the top time in the backstroke. They joined Hannah Williams and Bella Grantham to win the free and medley relays.

Northview's girls were led by Kristine Thomas, who won the 11-12 fly, free and breaststroke. Ashley Stucker won the 8-and-under fly and backstroke. Anna Kosiewicz finished in the 15-18 free and fly.

Mary Ann Halliday, Abby Youngblutt, Carly Castaneda and Ally Castaneda won the 8-and-under medley relay. Youngblutt also touched the wall first in the free and Halliday had the fastest time in the breaststroke.

Lily Castaneda, Issy Kosiewicz, Maey White and Madison Hoffmeister won the 11-12 free relay. Issy also had the fastest time in the 9-10 IM and Lily placed first in the 9-10 fly.

Indy Gauthier swam on the winning 9-10 medley and free relay teams Thursday, July 7 for Northwood Swim Club.

Smith won the 9-10 and 11-12 backstroke, respectively.

Anna Sponable, Erin Seyfried, Lauren Prin and Hannah Halliday had the fastest time in the 11-12 medley relay.

Northwood Park Swim Club narrowly lost to Madrona last Thursday as the girls fail 155-135 and the boys lost 157-139.

Leading the girls were Paris Boyd and Emily Alger.

Boyd won the 11-12 butterfly and breaststroke and also swam on the winning free and medley relay teams with Kaitley Wilcke, McKenna Olson and Ellie Auvinen. Individually, Wilcke placed first in the backstroke as well.

Alger had the fastest times in the 15-18 IM, free and fly. She also joined Haley Hughes, Madi Alt and Bella Walker to win the medley relay and Walker, Alt and Kennedy Buss to place first in the free relay. Walker also won the 13-14 butterfly.

Kaitlyn Roop, Indy Gauthier, Avery Buss and Rosella Cogar won the 9-10 medley relay. Gauthier, Buss, Cogar and Molly Eisele had the fastest time in the free relay.

Swimming for the Northwood boys, Zander Rhoades won the 11-12 free and butterfly and swam on the winning 13-14 free relay with Bryce Junker, Ethan Whalen and Brennan Whalen. Junker also had the fastest individual time in the backstroke.

In the 9-10 division, Caleb Skipper won the free and swam on the winning medley relay with Riley Auvinen, Grant Schaffer and Pierce Walker as well as the fastest free relay with Walker, Kelson Whalen and Elijah Clendenning. Walker won the 9-10 backstroke.

Derek Howard, Jabez Rhoades, Grant Biondi and Brock Wyer had the fastest time in the 15-18 medley relay while Biondi, Jabez Rhoades, Brock Wyer and Jake Wyer won the free relay.

The summer swim season will continue through July until the All-City meet on Saturday, July 30 at Holiday.

SPLIT,

In the Volcano fourth, four runs followed two outs. Ryan Howard and John Riley singled, Rivera walked, and Ashford Fulmer hit a grand slam over the left field wall.

Fulmer, not noted so far as a long ball hitter, said after the games that he was not sure whether his future was as a leadoff type or a power hitter. Salem-Keizer now led 6-5.

"I'll play wherever they put me," he said.

Facing a new pitcher, Evan Smith, in the fifth, Brusa led off with a home run to right center.

Brusa, who joined the Volcanoes straight out of the University of the Pacific, said he had plenty of experience with wooden bats because his father trained him that way from the start.

Jeff Burke pitched the sixth inning for the Volcanoes and gave up the Canadians' last run. Hernandez walked, went to third on a ground out, and scored on a single by Biggio.

In the Volcano seventh, Riley led off with a homer to left off Jackson Lowery.

Cesar Yanez set Vancouver down in order in the seventh and picked up his second save.

Game 2: Vancouver 9, Volcanoes 3

The Canadians blew the game open with six runs in the first inning. Starter Victor Concepcion lasted only two-thirds of an inning and took the loss.

Biggio walked and went to second as Orozco was safe on Concepcion's missed-catch error at first base. A wild pitch moved both runners up. A passed ball by catcher Zack Bowers scored Biggio and put Orozco on third. Woodman walked. Williams hit a sacrifice fly to center, scoring Orozco and letting Woodman reach second. Woodman stole third. Lizardo walked. DJ McKnight scored Woodman and moved Lizardo to third with a single to right. Lizardo scored on a balk. Andres Sotillo hit a two-run homer to left center.

CJ Gettman relieved Concepcion and retired the side as the next batter popped out.

Vancouver scored again in the second. Biggio led off with a single to right, reached third as Orozco doubled to right, and scored on a passed ball.

Rayan Hernandez took the mound for Salem-Keizer in the fourth and pitched two scoreless innings. Carlos Diaz pitched the last two innings for the Volcanoes.

The Volcanoes did not have a baserunner until the fourth. Facing Andrew Ravel, who had replaced starter Michael Ellenbest, Brusa cleared the right field fence with the bases empty for his second round-tripper. Zack Bowers grounded out to end the inning.

Rivera led off the Salem-Keizer sixth with a single to center, reached second on a wild pitch, and went to third as Fulmer hit an infield single. An errant throw by third baseman Lizardo put Fulmer on second. Brusa walked, and a pitch from Ravel hit Leo Rojas to force Rivera home. Jackson McClelland took the mound and struck out Gustavo Cabrera to retire the side.

Vancouver added two runs in the top of the seventh. In the bottom of the inning, Chase Compton walked and Rivera got him home with a single to left.

That was as far as the Volcanoes got.

After praising the come-from-behind effort in the first game, Volcano manager Kyle Haines said the start in the second game proved too rough to overcome.

"We just put ourselves in a hole," he said. "We need to make it to where we don't need to get too many hits."

RIGGS,

He attended San Jacinto College in Pasadena, Texas, just about an hour away from his house. He had one goal: have two successful years on the mound.

"I was there to play baseball," Riggs said. "There are a lot of good guys at a JC, and it was something different. We had fun. I ran a lot, more than I had ever run in my life."

After two years at San Jacinto, Riggs transferred to Sam Houston State. He pitched one season and was signed as a free agent by the Giants in 2014. With aspirations to be a closer Riggs has really found his role in the bullpen.

"The bullpen has done a great job keeping the game close late in games," he said. "Our starters are getting deep into games, and making it pretty easy on us."

Though they seem like all business all the time, the bullpen still finds time to joke.

"We go to the store and find the girliest backpack that we can," Riggs said. "We make the new guy carry it out, packing it full of gum, seeds, Gatorade, all the essentials for the bullpen pitchers. It is really fun for the fans, and it always gets their attention."

HUNTER,

Hunter recorded a double-double of 11 points and 10 rebounds in just 15 minutes to open the 2015-16 season with a easy win over Longwood.

After losses to Tennessee, Notre Dame and UCLA, the Lady Beavers swept rival Oregon 60-33 and 59-45.

On Jan. 1, OSU hosted Stanford, who it hadn't beat since 2001.

Hunter made sure to put an end to that losing streak, leading the Lady Beavers with 19 points, highlighted by a career-high five 3-pointers, and 12 rebounds in a 58-50 victory.

On March 6, OSU got revenge on the Lady Bruins, 69-

57, to win its first Pac-12 tournament title.

As a 2-seed, the Lady Beavers blew out St. Bonaventure 69-40 to advance to the Sweet 16 for the first time in program history.

OSU then topped DePaul 83-71 to play No. 1 seed Baylor for a shot of the Final Four. Hunter pulled down seven rebounds in a 60-57 win for the historic berth.

Up next was undefeated and three-time defending national champion UCONN.

Like all the other teams that had tried to dethrone the Lady Huskies, OSU fell 80-51 in front of more than 15,000 people in Indianapolis and millions more around the world watching on ESPN.

In the title game, Syracuse didn't have any better luck, losing to UCONN 82-51.

"Their starting five is amazing," Hunter said of the champions. "The game didn't go the way we wanted it to but it was definitely a good learning experience and just making it to the Final Four was an awe moment."

Hunter finished her career with 893 rebounds, good for fourth in Oregon State history and tied for 31st in Pac-12 history. She scored 946 points, had 262 assists, 86 steals, 46 blocks and played in every game over the course of her four-year career, starting 132 of 135.

She was three times named Pac-12 Academic Honorable Mention.

"It's crazy what we were able to accomplish over four years," she said. "It's still so surreal, even to this day, like it never happened, definitely a shock."

Last week, Hunter was back in a high school gym watching her old AAU team, Oregon Elite, and her younger sister, Sydney, who has her own college basketball career ahead of her.

In August, Hunter will travel to Puerto Rico to play professionally for three months with former OSU teammate Ali Gibson. She would then like to play in Europe.
