Today in History

After a howling wind- and rainstorm on Thanksgiving Day, the historic floating Lacey V. Murrow Memorial Bridge breaks apart and sinks to the bottom of Lake Washington, between Seattle and its suburbs to the east.

More charges for man implicated in Keizer Valentine’s Day murder

By ERIC A. HOWALD
Of the Keizertimes

A Portland man implicated in a Valentine’s Day homicide in Keizer earlier this year was recently indicted on additional charges.

On Wednesday, Nov. 16, Diontay Edward Wilson was charged with one count of felon in possession of a firearm in the U.S. District Court in Eugene.

The indictment alleges that Wilson “knowingly and unlawfully” possessed a .40 caliber Smith & Wesson pistol when he was arrested in Eugene on Feb. 16, 2016, two days after the fatal shooting of 28-year-old Jerrod Goodpaster in the parking lot of Starbucks at Keizer Station.

The shooting took place shortly after 6:30 p.m. on Feb. 14. Witnesses told Keizer Police Department detectives they saw two men arguing before one got into a dark sedan and took off, the other was on the ground. Goodpaster died at Salem Hospital due to injuries from a single gunshot to the abdomen.

Wilson is currently incarcerated on unrelated charges. The assistant U.S. attorney general has not specified what sentence will be sought for the crime. The incident is believed to stem from a marijuana deal.

Wilson and Timothy Bernard Calloway were arrested on other charges on Feb. 16, but were questioned by KPD officials in connection to Goodpaster’s death.

A search warrant affidavit stated a medical marijuana card and cell phone were found in Goodpaster’s pocket, and the phone had on it a conversation with the suspect about selling an ounce of marijuana for $120. The suspect’s phone number was traced to Wilson.

D. Wilson

Goodpaster’s father told the Keizertimes that his son sought out the medical marijuana card to relieve knee problems stemming from an injury playing football at McNary High School. Goodpaster had also begun cultivating marijuana plants at his home.

A family member told detectives Wilson and Calloway came to her home the night of the shooting and described a drug deal gone bad in Keizer. Another man who ended up driving the two around town told cops he knew Wilson and Calloway were in trouble and had “probably hurt somebody.” The two washed their clothing at his home before planning to leave for Los Angeles.

Eugene and Keizer police officers arrested Wilson and Calloway before they could execute their plan.

In May, Calloway was charged with murder, first degree robbery and unlawful use of a weapon in connection with Goodpaster’s death.

Council approves New digs UGB expansion

By ERIC A. HOWALD
Of the Keizertimes

The Keizer City Council threw its support behind a plan to expand the urban growth boundary at its meeting Monday, Nov. 21.

The expansion, if it receives approval from the Salem City Council and commissioners of Marion and Polk counties would accommodate a new bridge across the Willamette River just south of Keizer.

“One thing that arose from the meeting we held on the issue in October was people asking us not to kick the can down the road,” said Mayor Cathy Clark. “Redundancy is a healthy thing. I really believe that we have to look at a robust system that looks at east-west movement as well as north-south. Let’s get this done.”

The council generally voiced support for the plan to construct a new bridge spanning the Willamette River at Hickory and Pine streets in north Salem. The plans call for the annexation of 32 acres into the UGB to make way for the bridge and other connecting roads on the west side of the Willamette River.

While UGB expansion is an integral part of accommodating infrastructure upgrades to make way for a new bridge, there is not firm plan for when the bridge might be constructed. As of now, there is no funding to begin or complete construction.

Lack of a concrete path forward gave Keizer City Councilor Mark Caillier pause during deliberations on the issue. He did not want to see Keizer paying for improvements in west Salem as part of the deal.

“I want to pay our fair share and not someone else’s fair share,” Caillier said.

As talks progressed, Caillier eventually sided with supporting the UGB expansion along with the rest of the council.

Councilor Amy Ryan said her decision to support the expansion came as a result of talking with business owners that would be impacted.

“The fiscal and physical impact to businesses are the voices that matter to me and every one I talked to was excited about it. It brings our community together and I think this is an important piece in our relationship,” Ryan said.

Councilor Bruce Anderson also spoke in support of the action.

“This is a vitally important project for the entire region, and for businesses and commuters throughout the area. This is one of many, many steps to come and we need to take it tonight,” Anderson said.

Elks essays due Dec. 16

The Grand Lodge Fraternal Committee is encouraging students in grades 5 through 8 to participate in the Grand Lodge Americanism Essay contest.

The theme for this year’s contest is “Why is it important to vote?” The contest starts with the local lodges, progresses through district and state levels, and ends with the naming of the National Winners at the Grand Lodge Session in Reno, Nevada in July 2017.

To be eligible, participants must be students enrolled in grades five through eight at the time of the contest. Essays can not exceed 300 words and it must be typed or legibly printed in ink. Also, the essay must be submitted as written or typed by the entrant.

The essay should be turned in to the Keizer Elks Lodge, 4250 Cherry Avenue N.E., on or before Dec. 16. The essays will be judged on originality, development of the theme, and mechanics and neatness.
