Camping rates for eclipse locked in, 166 spaces available

By ERIC A. HOWALD
Of the Keizertimes

The rates for camping in Keizer Rapids Park in the days leading up to the total solar eclipse passing over the city were set at a meeting of the Keizer Festival Advisory Board (KFAB) Monday, Feb. 27.

Campers looking to scoop up spots will need to pony up $150 for three nights of tent camping or $300 for three nights of RV camping.

Members of KFAB also decided a flat rate would be charged rather than a per-night fee, meaning campers will have to pay the full fee regardless of whether they stay all three nights.

Keizer City Councilor Marlene Parsons has taken over leadership of the eclipse event coordination after the prior coordinator resigned.

The prices set fall in line with rates being charged at other camping sites along the path of the eclipse, said Allen

Barker, who has been helping coordinate the camp planning.

"Madras is charging $150 for tents and $300 for RVs for five nights," Barker said. While the rate is somewhat higher for Keizer Rapids park, very few spaces along the path of the eclipse are still available and many sold out within hours months ago. "We are also right on the I-5 and a lot of the other cities offering camping don't have that," Barker added.

Spaces would be available for reservation when the event website, keizereclipse.com, goes live. That was expected sometime in the early days of March.

Campers who reserve a spot will not be able to choose a space in the park at the time of their reservation. Those will be assigned at check-in with the hope of accommodating requests for groups of campers to be in close proximity to each other, Barker said.

A total of 166 spaces will be available. Campers will need to abide by the same rules governing state park camping.

Proceeds from the camping reservations will benefit the Keizer Parks Foundation with the intent of donating them to the city's parks as a one-time shot in the arm.

In other business:
Parsons said she would be requesting an $8,000 line item in the city's 2017-18 budget to pay for portable toilets during the eclipse festival. She is also working on a $5,000 request to the Keizer Parks Foundation to level out some of the more undulating areas of the lawn where tent campers will be placed.

Board members hope to enlist McNary High School graphic design students to come up with a logo for the festival.

There is hope to create a "goodie bag" of items that would be given to campers to inform them about what businesses and services are available locally.

"The whole purpose is to introduce this city to out-of-town visitors. We want to keep them busy and keep them in Keizer, not going to Salem," Parsons said.

Robin Barney took her Keizertimes to the Oregon coast and met some locals at the Yaquina Head Lighthouse.

You too can have your photo in the Keizertimes. Simply take the paper to your destination, snap a picture with you and your group holding it, and send the photo along with everyone's first and last names to kt@keizertimes.com. Submitted photo

Interviewers sought for HS students

The Salem Chamber is looking for a few good interviewers. Well, 300 to be exact.

At the Salem Convention Center, mock interviews will be held for over 1,000 Salem-Keizer high school students. They will be helped to improve their interview skills. Students do not need to be in a hiring position to participate. The event is from 8 a.m. to noon.

Volunteers to conduct the interviews are needed and can be there any portion of time, or for the entire event. Volunteers don't need to have any experience.

To sign up to volunteer, email kathy@salemchamber.org or fill out the Smart sheet form at <http://bit.ly/2IPSSbz>.

Keizer museum needs volunteers

The Keizer Heritage Museum is seeking volunteer hosts for two- and four-hour shifts. Two hours shifts are available on Tuesdays and Thursday; four-hour shifts are available on Saturdays.

The museum, which preserves Keizer's history dating back to the mid-19th century, hopes to extend museum hours, especially during summer months. Duties of a museum host include asking visitors to sign in, answer questions about exhibits and the Heritage Building. New hosts will be trained. To be considered for a host position contact the Keizer Heritage Center at 503-393-9660.

Sidewalk improvement contract awarded

Shoreline Drive North will be more navigable for those with disabilities thanks to a contract awarded at the Keizer City Council meeting Tuesday, Feb. 21.

The council approved a $26,675 contract with Salem Concrete Paving to install 13 new drop ramps along Shoreline Drive North. The new ramps are part of continuing effort in the city to make sidewalks more Americans with Disabilities Act-compliant.

The installation of the sidewalks will complete work along Shoreline Drive North.

The city received three bids on the projects ranging from Salem Concrete's low bid to a high of $85,800.
