Today in History

Just three days after the United Nations Security Council voted to provide military assistance to South Korea, President Harry S. Truman orders U.S. armed forces to assist in defending that nation from invading North Korean armies. He also ordered the U.S. Air Force to bomb military targets in North Korea and directed the U.S. Navy to blockade the North Korean coast. Truman's dramatic step marked the official entry of the United States into the Korean War.

Food 4 Thought

Why should Americans on the DMZ be among the first to die in a second Korean War? Should the North attack the South, could we not honor our treaty obligations with air and naval power offshore?

— Pat Buchanan

First timers get taste of camping

Sixteen families from Keizer and Salem were treated to a camping adventure at the second annual Governor's Campout at Willamette Mission State Park north of Keizer.

The annual event, organized by the Oregon State Parks Department and the Boys and Girls Club was held Saturday and Sunday, June 24 and 25. Dan Little, husband of Gov. Kate Brown was scheduled to participate as was state Rep. Teresa Alonso León.

The families that were recruited for the Campout don't have access to camping due to lack of skill, time or resources. The Arroyo, Ordonez-Munoz and Higgins families of Keizer participated in all the activities including paddling, hiking, archery and an evening around the campfire.

It was the very first camping experience for the Ordonez-Munoz family including 9-year-old Fernanda, 13-year-old Emilio and their parents Carmen and Raymond.

Carmen Ordonez wanted her children to experience nature, which both Fernanda and Emilio were excited to do.

The weekend of camping was organized and staged by the Oregon Marine Board, Department of Fish and Wildlife, Department of Forestry, Salem Family YMCA. Participating families are recruited to take part each year.

Civil War reenactment July 1-4

By DEREK WILEY
Of the Keizertimes

As many as 400 Civil War reenactors will converge on Powerland Heritage Park July 1-4.

The annual Civil War reenactment will begin each day at 9 a.m. with a battalion dress parade.

Battles will take place Saturday, Sunday and Tuesday at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. and Monday at 3 p.m.

Medical demos are scheduled after each battle. A parlor talk session is planned for 12:30 p.m. followed by a fashion show in the grandstands at 2.

On Sunday, a church service begins at 9:30 a.m.

In between all of the vents, patrons are invited to walk through the camps and ask questions.

Gerald Hilchey will be giving blacksmith demos.

"It was always an interest of mine," said Hilchey, who's been a reenactor for four years. "I've done metal work most of my life and it's fun to teach. I enjoy sharing the old art form with people."

An engineering unit will also be on site with a pontoon boat they've been building for a demonstration.

"It's a step back in time," Hilchey said. "People do their best to show what's it was like to live during the 1860s and the Civil War."

"People can see camp life and learn how things were done, see how the fighting was done, get an idea of how brutal the conditions were for the average soldier. There's also the fun side, too. People just generally having a good time and being with each other during off hours."

Tickets are $12 and includes admission to the Powerland Heritage museums and vintage trailer exhibit. Children under 12 get in free.

The annual event is put on by the Northwest Civil War Council, a non-profit organization committed to helping people experience living history with family friendly events and educational opportunities.

The event is back at Powerland Heritage, formerly known as Antique Powerland, in Brooks, after 25 years at Willamette Mission State Park.
