Salem-Keizer starter Julio Benitez went five and two-thirds of an inning with six strikeouts.

Luis Pino then struck out three in two and one-third of an inning and Heath Slatton pitched the next three, striking out six and getting the win with a 2-1 record.

Vic Black, continuing his rehabilitation, fanned three in his one inning and got his first save.

Friday, June 30: Volcanoes 7, Tri-City 2
Salem-Keizer scored three times in the first inning, and the Dust Devils never caught up.

In the Volcano first, one-out singles by Kevin Rivera and Manual Geraldo were followed by a double from Ryan Kirby that brought both home. Kirby went to third base on a wild pitch by Henry Henry and scored on an error.

Tri-City's two runs came in the second and third. The Volcanoes added two runs in the fifth as Geraldo drove in Malique Ziegler with a triple and scored on an error.

In the Volcano eighth, Dylan Manwaring doubled and scored on AJ Ramirez's first home run of the season.

Geraldo and Ziegler stole one base each, remaining tied for the club lead. It was No. 10 for both.

Alejandro De La Rosa was the winning pitcher with a 1-0 record, and Nick Deeg had his first save. Henry took the loss at 0-2.

Saturday, July 1: Volcanoes 2, Tri-City 1
Garrett Cave, one of seven newcomers to the Volcanoes, lost no time in getting his first professional save.

Salem-Keizer came from behind in this game, the Dust Devils having scored their run in the second inning. The first Volcano score was a lead-off home run by Gustavo Cabrera in the fifth.

In the Volcano eighth, Jeffrey Parra hit a one-out double and Mikey Edie ran for him. With Malique Ziegler batting, a wild pitch by Jordan Guerrero sent Edie to third. Ziegler was then hit on the hand by a pitch and left the game.

Edie scored on a sacrifice fly by AJ Ramirez.

Logan Webb was the winning pitcher in relief at 1-0. Guerrero was the loser at 0-1.

Sunday, July 2: Tri-City 4, Volcanoes 2
This first Dust Devil win of the five-game series was decided by Chris Mattison's two-run homer in the eighth inning.

Six Volcanoes played their first professional game: Outfielders Logan Baldwin, Dalton Combs, and Bryce Johnson; third baseman Michael Sexton; and relief pitchers Aaron Phillips and John Russell. Catcher Rob Calabrese and second baseman Orlando Garcia played their second professional game.

Salem-Keizer scored a run each in the first and eighth, and Tri-City scored two each in the fifth and eighth.

Volcano starter Stetson Woods, although not pitching to a decision, had eight strikeouts in his six innings. Russell took the loss. Dust Devil reliever Fred Schlichholz was the winner at 1-0.

Monday, July 3: Volcanoes 3, Tri-City 2 (10 innings)
Salem-Keizer played yet another extra-inning game to take this series four games to one.

Kendry Melo, pitching the last two innings, got his first win for a 1-0 record, hitting one batter but retiring the other three. Jose Marte, the starter, allowed no runs and struck out three in his five innings.

The Volcanoes got their first two runs in the third inning. Malique Ziegler led off with a single and reached second base on a wild pitch by Thomas Cosgrove, who had taken over from starter Travis Radke.

A throwing error by Cosgrove on a pickoff attempt sent Ziegler to third. Rob Calabrese walked, and John Riley doubled both runners home.

The Dust Devils, who had only two hits in the game, scored once in the sixth and once in the seventh.

In the 10th, Michael Sexton led off with a single, and Mikey Edie ran for him. Calabrese singled, and an outfield error put him on second and Edie on third.

Edie scored as Ryan Kirby reached first on a fielder's choice.

The losing pitcher was Evan Miller at 2-2.

WILSON,

We have an unobstructed view of Mt. Hood in all its splendor.

We are in an arid zone, usually turned brown by this time of year. We have grass still lush and green.

We have 37 nice fish in the cooler and a long boat ride back into the afternoon wind ahead of us.

Devon has volunteered to assist Koskela in filleting the catch.

It has been a great day with good friends. We are taking home, what many say is the finest fish on the planet.

Four of us can finally check walleye off the old bucket list, and plan on coming back again.

More About Walleye
Walleye fishing is open year round. There is no bag limit, no size limit. Although, some recommend you release the large females.

(Probably not going to happen when a person lands a trophy of 10-16 pounds.) They are the broodstock that produce the next generation.

The Columbia leads the nation in producing trophy walleye. The state record is over 19 pounds.

Native American Tribal netters have brought in fish that would have been world records.

Tournaments pay out big bucks and attract teams from all over the nation.

Walleye can be found throughout the Columbia. Some have been caught on the Willamette River below the falls at Oregon City.

Best way to learn the fishery is hire a reputable, certified guide, and have some fun.
