

SECOND,

Frandy De La Rosa reached first on a throwing error by second baseman Joe Venturino that let Kirby score. A sacrifice fly to right by Juan Rodriguez scored Amion, and Everett's lead was cut to 3-2.

Everett added a run in the third as a triple to right by Rosario drove in Dixon, who had doubled.

A three-run rally in the third put Salem-Keizer ahead 5-4. Bryce Johnson led off with a single to right center, and Brown got on first by forcing Johnson out. Garcia hit an infield single, and Kirby doubled to right, scoring both runners. Another Venturino error let Kirby score.

The AquaSox tied the score in the fourth, facing a new pitcher in Michael Rivera, as Adams homered over the left field fence.

In the Everett fifth, Camacho led off with a homer to left. After a walk to Dixon, Luis Pino relieved Woods. Pino had the bases loaded before retiring Everett with no more runs in the fifth. The sixth was the first scoreless inning for the AquaSox.

Tyler Schimpf pitched the eighth and ninth for the Volcanoes, allowing no runs.

The final run of the game came in the Salem-Keizer eighth as pinch hitter Logan Baldwin hit a one-out, bases-empty home run over the right field fence.

Woods took his first loss of the season against three wins.

"Situational hitting wasn't the best," Volcano manager Jolbert Cabrera said after Everett outhit Salem-Keizer 13-7. He added that the first-inning errors were costly.

Kirby commented that defense was the big problem.

"We made a couple of misplays in the first inning, and they just cost us," he said. "Just throw strikes," Pino said when asked how the pitching should improve. "Attack the zone early in the game."

Thursday, Aug. 3:

Everett 11, Volcanoes 10

This home series opened with a seesaw that ended up in the AquaSox's favor.

Salem-Keizer scored four runs in the first inning, Everett scored three times in the second, the Volcanoes widened their lead in the fourth and fifth, the AquaSox almost caught up with six in the sixth and added two in the seventh, and the Volcanoes came up short with three in the seventh.

The biggest blow on Salem-Keizer's side was Malique Ziegler's bases-loaded triple in the seventh. Everett had two home runs, by Johnny Adams with the bases empty and Ronald Rosario with one on.

Friday, Aug. 4:

Volcanoes 8, Everett 6

Everett fought hard again, but six errors to none for Salem-Keizer were too much of an obstacle.

The Volcanoes led most of the way, but a three-run homer by Greifer Andrade in the eighth inning tied the score at 6-6. The Volcanoes answered with two runs in the sixth on only one hit.

For the game, the Volcanoes outhit their visitors 12-9. They hit no home runs; another one by the AquaSox was hit by Chris Torres in the first.

Orlando Garcia and Rob Calabrese had three hits each for the Volcanoes. Bryce Johnson had two.

Aaron Phillips was the winning pitcher in relief and John Russell had his third save.

Saturday, Aug. 5:

Everett 11, Volcanoes 10

History repeated itself after two days, with both the score and the way the game progressed.

The Volcanoes scored five runs in the first inning and had a 5-0 lead through two before the AquaSox scored seven times in the third. Salem-Keizer tied the score in the fifth and went ahead by three in the sixth. In the eighth, Everett scored the last four runs of the game.

Manuel Geraldo provided four of the first Volcano runs with a grand slam, and teammate Orlando Garcia homered in the fifth with one on. Everett's big hitters were Johnny Adams, Onil Pena, and Greifer Andrade.

There were 15 hits on each side, but Volcano pitching was the big problem. Two of Everett's eighth inning runs were walked in, both charged to Andy Rohloff even though Garrett Cave issued the second one.

Rohloff was the losing pitcher.

Sunday, Aug. 6:

Volcanoes 7, Everett 1

Salem-Keizer evened this home series with the only lopsided win of the first four games.

The Volcanoes, who often have failed to bunch their hits this season, put together a five-run fifth inning that included Orlando Garcia's fifth home run of the season. An error, two passed balls, and a hit batsman helped. Garcia also doubled and scored in the fourth.

Among the 12 Volcano hits was Dalton Combs' first professional homer in the eighth.

Jason Bahr returned to form as a starter, winning his second game against one loss. Jose Santiago, the AquaSox's starter, was the losing pitcher with a 1-3 record.

Alex Bostic and John Russell pitched well in relief for the Volcanoes.

Tuesday, Aug. 8:

Hillsboro 11, Volcanoes 2

How's this for a start of a road series?

Hillsboro scored in each of the first four innings, including six runs in the third, and Salem-Keizer never had a chance.

Starting pitcher Julio Benitez, who lasted 2-1/3 innings but was charged with half of the third-inning runs, saw his record go to 1-3.

After John Timmins pitched the rest of the third, he was replaced by Cesar Yanez, who had just returned from several weeks in the Arizona League and allowed only one run in the next three innings.

The Hops had 12 hits to the Volcanoes' four, three by Dan Swain, who drove in five runs.

Logan Baldwin had two of the Salem-Keizer hits. He and Shane Matheny scored one run each.
