Rotarians plant arboretum at KRP

By ERIC A. HOWALD
Of the Keizertimes

Members of Keizer Rotary and a battalion of about 60 community and McNary High School volunteers planted a whopping 36 trees at Keizer Rapids Parks in a little less than an hour Saturday, Nov. 4.

The trees line a walking path in the southwest area of the park and will serve a dual purpose, one for neighbors and one for the city at large, said Rotarian Mark Caillier.

“When they are full-grown they will act as a sound barrier for the neighbors, but we also selected the trees from the list of the city’s recommended trees. That means when some one is looking for a tree to put in their yard, they can come down here and be able to see what the recommended trees are and what they look like in person,” Caillier said.

Placement of the trees was also done with an eye toward future growth and avoiding becoming a nuisance to neighbors.

“We didn’t want them growing over fences or shading someone’s garden,” Caillier said.

Eventually, a sign denoting Rotary involvement and housing pamphlets identifying the trees will also be installed. The Rotarians are not finished planting either, Caillier expects volunteers to return in January to plant another 40 trees from the list.

“This all started with a call from the International Rotary president for each local club to plant one tree for every member by Arbor Day 2018,” Caillier said.

In addition to planting new trees, the crew removed older ones and discovered that many had grown root balls that were unnatural to the species, the result of poor planting when they were originally put in.

Wilbur Bluhm, Keizer’s resident expert on things green and leafy, directed the planting this time around to ensure healthier growth.

The project is being funded by the Keizer Rotary Foundation, a grant from Rotary District 5100, and the Keizer Tree Fund as well as donations from HERC and Claggett Creek Watershed Council. No Keizer Parks funding was involved.

The McNary softball team made a big contribution of volunteers as a “thank you” for the recently-completed dugouts on the varsity softball field. The dugouts were also a Rotary project.

District officials will talk school bond at McNary

The Salem-Keizer Public Schools Board of Education has approved a bond measure to be placed on the May 2018 ballot. Members of the community are encouraged to attend the Bond Measure Listening and Learning Forum that will be held at McNary on Nov. 13 at 6 p.m.

The $620 million proposal for the bond would be spent alleviating overcapacity of schools, facility improvements, and expansions of career technical and vocational education programs, as well as structural and safety renovations.

If the bond is successful, it will allow McNary High to move forward with plans to renovate their parking layout—a move to address traffic and safety problems voiced by the residents of the area surrounding the school. The bond would accompany a land deal with St. Edward Catholic Church to expand McNary’s boundaries. The bond would also enable McNary to increase the space for Career & Technical Education programs, general classrooms, and science areas.

The dollar amount for the bond is not yet finalized. Forums will also be held at Straub Middle School (for West Salem schools) on Nov. 15; and McKay on Nov. 16.

Keizer commits to stake in homeless coordinator position

The Keizer City Council has unanimously approved an agreement that makes Keizer a stakeholder in establishing a homeless program coordinator position at the Mid-Willamette Valley Council of Governments.

The new position will coordinate private and public efforts to combat homelessness. The position is a result of a year’s worth of meetings in 2016 examining the issues around homelessness and charting a path forward.

Keizer, along with Monmouth and Independence, are investing $5,000 each in the position to help cover salary and benefits. Salem and Marion County are contributing $45,000 each. The Keizer City Council approved the agreement at its meeting Monday, Nov. 6.

The board of MVCOG will oversee the creation, recruitment and supervision of the position as well as provide the office space and equipment necessary to fulfill the duties of the job.

$600K spent for what, exactly? The actual value of 1.47 acre of land, deeded over to the city by developer Chuck Sides in lieu of the payment he owed for his local improvement district assessment, is listed as having a value of $0 by Marion County. The property in question has limited use and that means it could be worth $0 to $600,000.
