The intersection will allow for left-hand turns into the cinema parking lot and for buses to turn left leaving the transit center.

The city's obligations for improvements installing curb cut entries, driveways from the street through the sidewalk, realigning sidewalks, constructing a deceleration lane on Lockhaven Drive North-east, and constructing a sound wall on the north side of the property to provide screening to the adjacent neighborhood.

Keizer Cinema 9 will be responsible for everything beyond the sidewalk. As far as when construction might begin, Keizer Community Development Director Nate Brown said Nakvasil hoped to apply for a foundation permit as soon as the end of this week.

"A lot that has been happening quietly, but moving forward steadily," Brown said.

Pate Retail Properties will receive a 3 percent commission on the rent for the first 20 years of the lease.

"It's going to be cool," said Eppley.

HOME,

KHT's second show is The Fox on the Fairway, a hilarious romp, which pulls the rug out from underneath the stuffy denizens of a private country club. Filled with mistaken identities, slamming doors, and over-the-top romantic shenanigans, it's a furiously paced comedy that recalls the Marx Brothers' classics. A charmingly madcap adventure about love, life, and man's eternal love affair with golf.

"It's a modern farce and it's absolutely hysterical," Baker said. "I grabbed it and put a hold on it so no other company could do it. It's really good. I'm really excited about it. If people liked Drop Dead, they will love Fox on the Fairway, much better script, much funnier."

Written by Ken Ludwig, The Fox on the Fairway calls for three men and three women.

Kevin Strausbaugh, a 2005 McNary graduate, is set to direct the show, which is scheduled to run May 3-5, 11-13 and 18-20.

"He's the most natural, instinctive director student I've had," Baker said. "He's wonderful. I'm very excited about giving this to him."

KHT will continue its summer tradition of Shakespeare in the park with The Tempest at the Keizer Rotary Amphitheater in July.

The company will finish the season with The Quality of Life in October.

Written by Jane Anderson, The Quality of Life tells the story of Dinah and Bill, a devout, church-going couple from the Midwest who are struggling to keep their lives intact after the loss of their daughter. Dinah is compelled to reconnect with her left-leaning cousins in Northern California who are going through their own trials. Jeannette and Neil have lost their home to a wildfire and Neil has cancer. However they seem to have accepted their situation with good humor. Bill and Dinah are both moved and perplexed. But their sympathy turns to rage when they find out that Jeannette is planning to take her own life to avoid a life of grief without her beloved Neil.

"It's just a beautiful piece of work," Baker said. "This is the reason that you go to see theatre. It's entertaining but also it makes you laugh, it makes you cry, it makes you fall in love."

Clean Energy Comfort, which recently relocated to Keizer from Salem is a leading provider of home heating and cooling systems. Their focus is to help customers achieve a maximum comfort level in their home, while minimizing energy usage. Company president Chris Romine and his expert technicians achieve this through properly sizing a comfort system to match the needs of the home, and then tailoring the system to meet the desires of the homeowner.

Their mission is to be at the forefront of the HVAC industry by continually implementing new ideas and products, and by keeping their employees up to date with continued education and training. They will maintain sustainability, and continue to serve their valued customers for many years to come.

The company approaches their business from an educational perspective. They help their customers make the best decision for their homes. They aim to quickly take care of their customers needs and provide high-rated products that their customers can trust.

The business started in Salem in early 2011 and are now enjoying their large space at 3816 River Road.

If you want to be comfortable in your home when it comes to heating and cooling call the experts at Clean Energy Comfort at 503-304-1320 or visit them online at cleanenergycomfort.com.
