

McNary's young golf team developing

McNary knows what it has in its top two golfers as junior Matt Langenwalter and sophomore Joe Dutcher return from the team that finished second in the Greater Valley Conference last season.

The key will be who steps into the Celtics third and fourth spots.

Amar Sidhu and Zach Roth have the most experience. Freshman Brady Jackson could also make a splash.

"They're just developing players," McNary head coach Rick Ward said. "We've got some developing that's got to take place and then I've got a really good group of young players that are learning. I think there's some promise there. It's just going to take some time. We're just not going to put a kid out there in a varsity tournament who's not ready to do that."

Langenwalter shot 153 over 32 holes to finish tied for second individually with Dylan Hadsall of West Salem at the district tournament last season. While GVC low medalist Andrew Eyre of West Salem graduated, his younger brother Brandon is a freshman for the Titans.

Dutcher shot 159 to place seventh at the district tournament last season. McNary graduated three seniors who finished in the top 20.

Both Dutcher and Langenwalter's families live by the McNary Golf Club. But Langenwalter didn't begin playing competitively until he was 13.

"I started practicing a lot and started getting into the game and got pretty passionate about it," Langenwalter said.

Dutcher, who lives by the fifth hole, has played since he was 6 years old.

Playing in the Tigard Invitational at Tualatin Country Club on March 12, neither got off to the start they were hoping for. Langenwalter shot 81 to lead the Celtics.

"We started poorly, it was kind of a rough day out there, but I think we're going to build off of it and be able to improve as a young team," Langenwalter said.

After shooting two over par on the front-9, Dutcher went 14-over on the back.

"I was experiencing some back pain, took some Ibuprofen and got a little drowsy," Dutcher said.

The Celtics play a league match at McNary Golf Club on April 9 beginning at 10 a.m.

The district tournament is April 30-May 1 at Trysting Tree in Corvallis.

"I like that golf course," Langenwalter said. "They just renovated it actually so I'm kind of curious to see what the new design looks like so I'll be up there practicing in the months leading up to it."

McNary girls 2nd in league match

Behind a strong finish on the back nine, McNary's girls golf team finished second in a league match at Michelbook Country Club in McMinnville on Tuesday, March 20.

The Lady Celts shot a team score of 434 to finish behind only Sprague's 403.

Individually, Hannah Elliot had two birdies on the back nine to shoot 100 to lead the Lady Celts. Lexi Ronning carded a 109. Juralee Stover shot 111 and Emma John finished with a 114.

Ashley Zhu, of Salem Salem, shot 80 for the best score of the day.

McNary's next league match is April 11 at McNary Golf Club at 10 a.m.

Tualatin tied the game with a run in the top of the sixth and took the lead in the seventh on a RBI double to left field.

Allen pitched all seven innings, allowing just one earned run and three hits.

Jacob Jackson scored McNary's only run, leading off the bottom of the first with a line drive single to center field and then scoring on a double play.

"We're encouraged," Keeker said. "I like the guys' attitudes right now. We're learning how to compete."

McNary couldn't start a winning streak, falling to Tualatin at home 2-1 on Tuesday, March 20.
