Elude ends with crash at auto body shop

A Mt. Angel man tried to flee a Keizer police officer in north Salem and ended up in cuffs after crashing into a business Sunday, May 6.

The incident began about 3:40 a.m. when Officer Kevin DeMarco saw a 2000 Honda Civic pull into the Jack in the Box drive-thru at 2801 Broadway Street N.E. DeMarco pulled into an adjacent parking lot where he could try to get the vehicle's license plate for a registration check. While DeMarco was still trying to get the plate identification, the Civic pulled out of the drive-thru in reverse and over a curb. The driver exited the parking lot on Broadway, turned west on the Salem-Keizer Parkway and blew through a red light at the intersection of the Parkway and Liberty Street Northeast.

After running the stop light, DeMarco activated his lights and siren and estimated the Honda continued traveling around 75 miles and hour away from him. He notified Salem Police Department of the pursuit through dispatch and spotted the driver turning left on Market Street Northeast against another red light and almost colliding with another vehicle.

DeMarco terminated the pursuit, but began searching the surrounding neighborhood.

"It's common for fleeing suspects to abandon the vehicle soon after police stop chasing them," said Keizer Police Department Deputy Chief Jeff Kuhns.

A short time later, DeMarco found the vehicle where it had crashed into the steel beam on the east side of CE Miller Auto Body Building.

Members of the Salem Police Department responded to investigate the hit-and-run crash and others established a perimeter so a K9 track could occur. DeMarco and another Keizer officer, Scott Keniston, with his K9 partner, conducted a search and found the driver of the vehicle hiding under a deck behind a home in the 900 block of 5th Street Northeast. The suspect complied with officer commands and he was taken into custody without incident.

Dmitry Naumov, 30, was arrested and charged with possession of a stolen vehicle, failure to perform the duties of a driver when property is damaged, fleeing or attempting to elude a police officer, unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and criminal mischief. Naumov also had an outstanding felony warrant for his arrest.

Naumov later told police he was outside smoking a cigarette when he saw officers setting up a perimeter in the neighborhood and hid because he knew there was a warrant issued for his arrest.
