thanks to an anonymous donation, two $2,500 scholarships would be awarded instead of one.

"I couldn't believe it," Burlson said. "I was shocked at first that there were two of us. I can't believe that somebody would be so generous."

Along with Burlson, Chloe Campbell will also represent Keizer in the state Distinguished Young Women program.

"When they announced that there were going to be two winners, I had no idea," Campbell said. "College is so expensive and of course that's going to be a factor in choosing your colleges, the pricing, so this helps so much," Campbell said. "It's not even about the scholarship money. That's an added plus but just being able to get all of the skill sets and experience is so rewarding and amazing."

Burlson also received $500 for winning the scholastic achievement category.

"I'm so excited for what's to come and this program has given me so much," Burlson said. "It's given me so much more interview experience and more confidence and walking in heels. I wasn't able to walk in heels before this, and do push ups. I was planning on going to some cheap colleges but now my options have opened up a little more."

The five girls—Burlson, Campbell, Kate Bomar, Anni Sykosky and Kaitlyn Duncanson—were judged on five categories—scholastic achievement (25 percent), interview (25), talent (20), fitness (15) and self expression (15).

Bomar took home $300 for the spirit award, which is voted on by the contestants.

For self expression, the girls were asked what volunteerism and community meant to them.

Sydney Gould and Ivy Parker, the 2018 Distinguished Young Women of Keizer, also performed as well as Jessika Nanez, 2018 Distinguished Young Woman of Oregon.

Burlson and Campbell will compete for the state title on Saturday, Aug. 11 at Chemeketa Community College.

"I'm so excited to be able to spend more time with Elisabeth and go on to the state competition," Campbell said. "It's such an amazing opportunity. We got so much closer. We used to be friends when we were little. I'm sad that it's over, relieved, but so excited for what's coming next."

said. "You stayed in school for 13 years and your parents had no idea what you were going through. There were challenges: the language, the social environment, the economics. You jumped over all those obstacles."

In addition to the scholarships presented, one graduate, Julia Solis, was the first recipient of the LAC Community Service Award, which is sponsored by Herrera's family.

"She has been a leader in so many things, but I especially appreciate her work as part of the Kennedy Elementary School mentors for the past three years," Herrera said.

The scholarship honorees were: Gloria Celestino Aguilera, Western Oregon University (WOU), veterinary tech; Anjelica Alvarez, cosmetology; Jose Pablo Barrera, Chemeketa Community College, sociology; Gloria Celestino; Anthony Julian Chavez, Chemeketa/Colorado State University, sports medicine; Ernesto Lua Diaz, Chemeketa, computer science; Ramiro Garcia, Chemeketa/University of Oregon (UO), business management; Natalie Ito, Portland State University, pre-med; Erasmo Arellano Leon, Chemeketa, graphic design; Crystal G. Llanos, Stanford University, biomedical engineering; Mersatec Aguilar Lopez, Linfield College, nursing; Jorge Luis Lopez, Chemeketa, computer science;

Maria Isabel Limon Rangel, community college, undecided; Jorge Bedolla Rodriguez; Iris Rodriguez; Bianca Lylea Sierra, UO, family human resources; Julia Solis, Ivy Tech Community College (Indiana), general studies; Luis Acosta Vega, WOU, education; Sissy Zendejas, UO, biology.

France dance performs May 23

The France School of Dance semi-annual dance performance is slated for Wednesday, May 23, at North Salem High School.

Admission to the show, which begins at 7 p.m., is $3 per person and all proceeds will benefit the Keizer Community Food Bank. Students from ages 4 to adult will perform tap, ballet, pointe, jazz and hip hop styles. New classes at the school begin June 4. Visit www.fsodance.com or call Carole France Martin or Linda France Martin at 503-390-3481.

The school's last performance yielded a donation of more than $850 to the food bank, and the school has collected more than 60,000 pounds of food and thousands in cash donation over the years.
