

FEST: Talented teens take KeizerFEST stage Sunday

Proceeds from the auction will benefit the Keizer Network of Women Giving Basket program this winter.

This year's theme is The Keizer Way. Keizer Chamber of Commerce Executive Director Danielle Bethell said chamber employees have fielded many calls asking precisely what that means.

"We've been telling them that it's whatever you think about when they think of Keizer," Bethell said. "I'm hoping that means we have a lot of interpretations of people's heartfelt thoughts on Keizer."

Cherry Avenue will be closed between Manbrin Avenue and Alder Drive until Sunday evening to make space for ADA parking and pedestrian access to the KeizerFEST tent.

There's also lots of buzz circulating around Sunday's line-up at the tent. More than $2,000 will be up for grabs at the KeizerFEST Teen Talent Showcase on Sunday, May 20.

"We're looking for musical talent, not just singing but instrumental, too, any style, any size ensemble, it's all good," said McNary High School choir director Joshua Rist, who is one of four judges. "We're hoping to get a good turnout from the community. We just want kids in middle school and high school in the Salem-Keizer School District to have an outlet to show off their talents."

Judges selected contestants from video submissions to compete in the talent show. Round 1 is scheduled to begin at 11 a.m., the final round at 3 p.m. and then a winner presentation at 4:15.

First prize is $1,000, second is $700 and third receives $400. The showcase is hosted by Keizer Chamber of Commerce and sponsored by Uptown Music.

Other festival-related events include:

- Dayspring Church, 1755 Lockhaven Drive N.E., is hosting a block party from noon to 4 p.m. Saturday, May 19. The event includes carnival games, a bounce house, free hot dog lunch and music.

- The Keizer Elks Car Show runs from Saturday 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Elks Lodge, 4250 Cherry Avenue.

bond measure," SKPS Superintendent Christy Perry said before a gathering of supporters. "We understand that shepherding the bond funds is a responsibility and a privilege. Tonight we renew our commitment to sound financial management. As a community, we've made a promise to our kids, and we look forward to delivering healthy educational spaces."

In other ballot races, Rep. Kurt Schrader will face off against Republican challenger Mark Callahan. State Rep. Knute Buehler will take in incumbent Gov. Kate Brown in the governor's race, Buehler edged out several competitors with about 38 percent of the vote.

Willamette University's professor Paul Diller, a Democrat, appeared to have squeaked out a win (50.79 percent of the vote) in a tight race to face state Sen. Kim Thatcher for the seat representing the 13th District.

Democrat Dave McCall, a Keizer resident, ran unopposed to challenge for the state representative seat currently held by Rep. Bill Post.

Shelawau Crier, a Democrat will face incumbent Republican Kevin Cameron in the race for Marion County Commission Position 1. Sitting Marion County Clerk Bill Burgess won a three-way race for the Democratic nomination for Marion County Commissioner Position 2, Colm Willis defeated Salem City Councilor Brad Nanke for the Republican nomination.

Val Hoyle won the race to become Oregon's next Commissioner of the Bureau of Labor and Industries. Hoyle beat out two challengers for the title with almost 45 percent of the vote. She is also the first woman to hold the seat in its more than 100 year history.

Meagan Flynn defeated challenger Van Pounds with 69 percent of the vote for position 3 on the Oregon Supreme Court. Oregon Court of Appeals Judge Rex Armstrong fended off challenger Kyle Krohn. Paige Clarkson will succeed Walt Beglau at Marion County's District Attorney.

Slightly more than 23 percent of Marion County's registered voters cast ballots in the election.
