Chamber bolsters BLAST Camp

The Keizer Police Department BLAST Camp was the recipient of a $1,000 donation from the Keizer Chamber of Commerce at the Keizer City Council meeting Monday, Aug. 6.

The Chamber raised money for the camp through several efforts during Keizer-FEST in May. The free camp, which took place in July, fosters stronger ties between local police and youth who might otherwise have negative impressions of police officers.

Chamber welcomes new biz

Members of the Keizer Chamber of Commerce turned out in droves Tuesday, Aug. 14, to welcome Celtic Self Storage to the neighborhood. The new business is located at 1101 Chemawa Road N.

School boundaries getting 2nd look after bond passage

After the successful passage of the $619.7 million bond measure, Salem-Keizer Public Schools (SKPS) has begun planning for construction – school boundary changes may follow.

In 2019, Gubser Elementary, Waldo Middle, Judson Middle, McNary High and North High will begin receiving significant capital construction. In order to utilize increased capacity and ensure the safe progression of construction, the Salem-Keizer Board of Directors reviewed the boundary change process at its July 24 meeting.

The boundary change process is being facilitated by FLO Analytics, a consulting firm with expertise in data analysis and experience in assisting school districts with boundary changes. FLO Analytics utilizes research and population forecasting from Portland State University to guide enrollment projections.

The boundary change process will take about eight months and will include public input sessions to collect parent and community feedback. The process will also include a Boundary Review Task Force that will vet an initial staff recommendation and prepare a report and recommendation to the School Board.

Boundary adjustments may be needed across every high school feeder system; however, comparatively small changes are predicted within the Mc-

Nary feeder system. For example, changes to balance enrollments in some elementary and/or middle schools within the McNary progression may be needed, but changes to the high school boundaries are not expected.

The boundary adjustments also incorporate the construction of special education spaces at each of the district's six traditional high schools.

SKPS will host a series of community meetings between September and December to gather feedback on the proposed boundary adjustments. The Board is expected to take action on boundary adjustments in February 2019 for implementation in the fall of 2019.
