Here's your opportunity to learn more about the latest hearing technology

Smart New Hearing Aid Brings In The Talk, and Screens Out The Noise!

It's important to know, hearing aids do more than just make things louder. In fact, amplifying all sounds equally can cause listening discomfort and confusion.

Unlike prior technology, the Acuity Voice inside the Muse iQ™ technology stimulates only the parts of hearing that have been damaged, leaving any normal hearing un-amplified.

Call this week for your FREE Test and get an in-office trial!

Your hearing prescription is set as you watch and listen. You will notice immediate before and after results. This technology is available from Ascent Hearing Center at a special factory reduced offer of $500 OFF MSRP.

Hurry, this event ends Friday, October 26!

Keizer history is still just around the corner

The earliest settlers in the area that became Keizer came from 18 separate families in the mid-1800s. The city is named after Thomas Dove Keizer who arrived in 1843. Before that time, fewer people had settled here. There was a trading post and a lodging known as the Wallace house or fort nearby.

Until recently, the oldest house in Keizer was on Verda Lane by the cow pasture. It was originally built around 1875 and belonged to John and Sally Pugh whose parents were some of the original settlers. Sally's maiden name was Claggett, and is the same family where the Keizer creek and middle school get their name from.

The first school was built in 1878 on the corner of what is now Chemawa Road Northeast and River Road North. Much, much later some of the people who attended the school raised money to preserve the building and move it next to the Keizer Civic Center. It is now known as the Keizer Cultural Center, the big white building next to city hall where you can go to the library or museum, take art classes or see a play.

The second-oldest structure in the Keizer area is the log cabin now known as the Log House Garden at Willow Lake. The log house was built around 1907. It was built by William and Ida Blake and their descendants still own it to this day.

MAKE IT: Clothespin butterflies

WHAT YOU NEED:

Scissors

Glue

A paper towel OR thin sheet of paper

Paint or markers

A pipe cleaner

A clothespin

A pair of googly eyes

STEP 1: Cut the edges of the paper or towel so they are rounded.

STEP 2: Spread out your paper towel or paper and start designing your butterfly's wings from the middle out to the edges. Make a careful design or just make it colorful.

STEP 4: Pinch your wings in the middle and slip them into the mouth of the clothespin.

STEP 5: Bend your pipe cleaner to form antennas and put them in the clothespin above the wings.

STEP SIX: Glue on the eyes.

STEP SEVEN: Go outside and fly it around or hang it from your ceiling.
