

Turkeys don't fly but they can run

The Keizer Chamber of Commerce staged the 7th annual Turkey Dash early Thanksgiving morning. The 5K run/walk started at Lowe's Home Improvement at Keizer Station.

Six hundred-forty three entrants crossed over the finish line. The official winner was not named at press time due to technical problems.

Salem Health was the title sponsor of this year's event

us to realize how much work is involved in boat fishing today.

Crowded conditions at boat launches today have forced many anglers to hire a guide.

Buoy 10 fisheries for example; according to ODFW figures, over 10,000 lines in the water on a given day, number of boats launched can be staggering. We checked at the Hammond boat launch one Saturday in August. By 10 a.m. 505 had launched. Savvy anglers were riding bikes to get from the dock to their boat trailers.

Go with a guide, park your car, walk down the dock and climb aboard. Your guide has all the gear and bait. Catch a nice salmon, he cleans and bags it for the trip home.

We did our research. We wanted to find enough guides to cover the different species we like to fish for.

We talked to others that have used guides, checked references, and came up with a short list of guides that are dependable, honest, trustworthy and most important, know how to catch fish.

Donald Koskela, Pastime Fishing Adventures, Silverton. Ocean: tuna, halibut, lingcod, sea bass, salmon. River: sturgeon, salmon, walleye.

Jim Johnston, West Salem. Tidewater: salmon. Buoy 10 & Tillamook Bay: driftboat, salmon and winter steelhead.

Travis Mattoon, Adrift Angling, Pacific City. Tidewater: salmon. Rivers: salmon and steelhead. Driftboat: salmon and steelhead.

Oregon Marine Board provides a list of registered guides. Registered guides will be insured and references should be available.

Over 200 river guides fish the Buoy 10 fishery. Most of them are registered. Some are not. Legally, they have to be.
