CHANGE,

Sometime between September of this year and May 2020, the main entrance to the school, on the south end, will also become a major work site. The space will become a new music and digital production room and a safer access point.

“Right now, to check out a student, parents just walk into the middle of the building. That’s not best practice even though we haven’t had any problems. The main office will move to the front of the school and it will enhance school safety. It’s a different time than it was when the building was first built,” Jespersen said.

“The new process for checking in will foster relationships that will allow us to know who is coming in and going out of the building instead of watching from a remote location or watching a video feed,” said Lillian Govus, district spokesperson. “It’s going to be such a safer entrance”

In the summer of 2020, new softball fields and soccer fields will be constructed on the property formerly owned by St. Edward, and the south end of campus where the fields now are will be converted into additional parking with new traffic flow and drop-off patterns. (See related story, Page A9).

Govus said that any community groups and individual users of facilities like the football turf, track and other features of the school should expect to find other spaces between summer 2019 and the fall of 2020.

This summer, the McNary transition school for ninth graders, a credit recovery program and all business functions are being moved to the CTEC campus off Portland Road in Salem. Bussing will be provided.

While disruption is inevitable for all involved, Wolfe hoped Keizer residents would keep an eye on the bigger picture.

“The short term disruption is going to be worth the long term benefit. These are signature projects and McNary will look different in a very, very exciting way,” Wolfe said.
