

Schools move forward with $47 million more

BY HERB SWETT
For the Keizertimes

A $47,323,709 increase in the current Salem-Keizer Public Schools budget was approved by the School Board on Tuesday.

That is the increase in grant revenues over the amount anticipated for the 2018-19 school year. It includes three grants approved Tuesday: $8 million from the Oregon Department of Education for capital improvements to include an addition and renovations at McKay High School; $288,611 from ODE for programs for migrant children; and $5,000 from the Oregon Tech Foundation for teachers participating in workshops for science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) programs.

In other business, the board approved for first reading a permanent easement to the city of Keizer for an area in the northwestern part of the McNary High School campus, to operate the public drinking water well and pump station in that area.

Also approved for first reading were authorization of a property tax exemption for five apartment complexes in Salem, and support of a regional continuum of care to reduce homelessness in the mid-Willamette valley.

The board approved the application from Qurat "Anna" Ali of Salem for a term on the Willamette Education Service District board of directors.

Personnel actions approved by the board included the following in the McNary attendance area:

- Temporary full-time contracts for Michael Etzel, Claggett Creek Middle School; Mary Kruger, Kennedy Elementary School; and Brian VanWyngarden, Keizer Elementary School.

- First-year probation full-time contracts for Kelly Burdick and Jason Harris, McNary; and Sara Ricketts, Weddle Elementary School.

- Resignations of Kimberly Hanson, Cummings Elementary School; Michelle Merritt, Weddle Elementary School; and Susanne Stefani and Heather Zehr, McNary.

The board also proclaimed May as Asian Pacific American Heritage Month.

Teacher seeks cure for 'chronic stupidity' in Pentacle's Neil Simon production
