

Keizer fire board talks finances, updates policies

BY MATT RAWLINGS
Of the Keizertimes

Revised policies and general business were the topics of discussion at the Keizer Fire District board meeting on May 21 — which miraculously took under 20 minutes. “We’re going to get out of here quick,” joked director Chet Patterson midway through the session.

Directors Joe Van Meter and Ron Christopher were unable to attend the meeting, although Van Meter was able to participate in discussion over the phone.

Director Betty Hart reported that KFD is about 80 percent through the financial year and that the district received $139,207 for the month of April — which is slightly above the average.

Hart also stated that the district had received multiple property tax payments in the month of April as well, which totaled $17,600, and that KFD has received more than 99 percent of payments for what they budgeted for the year.

All financial reports were approved unanimously.

The two policies that are up for revision were Policy 4.05, which deals with the Administration Organizational chart, and Policy 4.09, which details the use of district staff vehicles.

Policy 4.05, which was last updated in 2010, included revisions in the event of the fire chief being absent.

If the fire chief is absent, then the on-duty division chief will assume responsibilities for the fire district. Previously, this was given to a “designee.” The board of directors will also designate a division chief to act in capacity of the fire chief if the chief is absent.

Additionally, this policy included an update to the addendum.

After two readings, this policy was approved unanimously — first reading took place at the April meeting.

Policy 4.09, on the other hand, was last updated in 2007. This meeting held the first reading of the policy and, if approved, will include the following revisions:

The policy is numbered 4.09, which puts it in the administration section of the policy manual. However, it also identifies the policy as being in the equipment/apparatus section of the policy manual. In order to correct this oversight, the policy is being renumbered 8.03.

Addition of the word “staff” was in reference to vehicles.

Removal of Section 4, which made references to the duty chief vehicle, as this vehicle is now assigned to the on-duty division chief and not used by off-duty personnel to respond from home.

Update of the use of the fire prevention vehicle. The vehicle use is being updated to leave the option for a stand-by fire prevention employee to use the vehicle if needed.

Addition of vaping to the section that prohibits smoking in district vehicles.

The second reading of this policy will take place at the June meeting.

In other news, Chief Jeff Cowan reported that KeizerFEST went smoothly for everyone that was on duty.

“Things went really smoothly with our staff,” Cowan said. “We had less impact on us this year, so I am delighted about that. There have been some years where there were a lot of things we were juggling in the air.”

property taking place is unsafe, generally, and the legislation “will add some impetus to keeping it safe.”

Shirley DeShon, who has lived for 30 years nearly directly across from where the shooting takes place, broke down as she described a September 2017 incident when bullets flew across the river and into trees.

“I would ask that you try to imagine having a barbecue with family and grandkids running around when those shots started hitting the trees. I realize that this bill gives a lot to a lot of people, but it’s not enough,” DeShon said. “I don’t want to come back here talking about dead bodies.”

Rich Angstrom, president of Oregon Concrete Aggregate Producers Association, said that incidents like the one in 2017 and another in 2018 where a bullet from the range penetrated a Keizer home are now being used to blame the property owner, Lance Davis, for all shooting taking place west of the Willamette River. He even went as far as accusing one resident of “manufacturing” evidence without naming the individual and providing only hearsay evidence of his own.

Rob Bovett, legal counsel for the Association of Oregon Counties, said his group was taking a neutral stance on the bill.

Only Rep. Mitch Greenlick posed any questions to those providing testimony and it was over why the bill was so narrowly targeted to the owner of a single property.

“It seems that having a bill that targets one person is a poor use of the legislation when it should be broader,” Greenlick said.

Today in History

After two years of exploratory visits and friendly negotiations, Ford Motor Company signs a landmark agreement to produce cars in the Soviet Union. The always independent-minded Henry Ford was strongly in favor of his free-market company doing business with Communist countries. Ford was quoted as saying that “No matter where industry prospers, whether in India or China, or Russia, all the world is bound to catch some good from it..”
