

Union and Confederacy battle at Powerland

A few hundred Civil War reenactors will descend on Powerland Heritage Park July 4-7.

Tickets are $12 and includes admission to the Powerland Heritage museums and vintage trailer exhibit. Children under 12 get in free.

The annual Civil War reenactment will begin each day at 9 a.m. with a battalion dress parade.

Battles will take place Saturday, Sunday and Tuesday at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. and Monday at 3 p.m. The park closes at 4 p.m. each day.

Medical demonstrations are scheduled after each battle. Parlor talks are planned for 1 p.m. daily, and Abraham Lincoln will be a featured guest at the parlor talk Saturday, July 6. Fashion shows are held daily at 3 p.m.

Union soldiers fend off an advancing Confederate regiment in a battle last year at Powerland Heritage Park.

In between all of the events, patrons are invited to walk through the camps and ask questions. Civilian Camps include both Union and Confederate citizens, tradespeople, and life skills. Military Camps include Union and Confederate infantry, artillery, cavalry, and Union engineers.

SCHOOL: 'We still have a lot of work to do'

(Continued from Page A1) schools are working to improve their attendance rates through identifying resources for their students, community engagement and more. Through a grant with Kaiser Permanente, the Salem/Keizer Coalition for Equality is also working to develop attendance supports for families in the North Salem High feeder system. At North, students improved their attendance rate this year by 6.3 percentage points.

During the summer, the district will continue to collaborate with community organizations to develop additional supports and resources for families, students and educators to continue to improve attendance. "The improvements to our attendance rates across the district are so encouraging," said Perry. "However, we still have a lot of work to do, and this is work that we will continue to do until we help each and every student be there every day in District 24J."

Police were alerted to the situation on Tuesday, June 18, when the victim's mother discovered text messages between the girl and "16-year-old high school student" the suspect was pretending to be.

B. Proulx

Detectives began communicating with the person sending the text messages using the girl's phone and arranged to meet with him at a local restaurant. The suspect was arrested upon arriving at the meeting location.

Aside from "animal style" burgers, Arena said the In-N-Out Foundation works "hard to assist all communities where we do business to become stronger, safer and better places to live."

The In-N-Out Foundation focuses its resources on organizations that work with homeless youth, youth in foster care, adoption and youth survivors of domestic violence.

"In addition, we provide grants through our Slave 2 Nothing Foundation, make corporate donations and engage our associates with opportunities to volunteer in their community," Arena said.
