Everything had to be hand carried in including three portable fire pumps that each weight 35 pounds and aren't designed to be carried in that kind of terrain," Storms said. "Trails to the river access were unmaintained so firefighters were carrying heavy equipment over and under downed trees and making new trails to access the fire."

After several hours, a local homeowner was able to assist by moving their trailer and taking a gate off the property, which allowed firefighters to take two brush trucks across the property. City of Keizer staff used the same access trail to bring a small excavator down to the scene to move logs and help extinguish the fire.

KFD didn't clear the scene until 8:13 p.m.

The cause of the fire is unknown and not being investigated.

could get Pam on the ground and begin CPR, but she was unable to lift Pam out of the chair.

About two blocks away, Keizer Public Works employee Brad Beverly, a customer service representative, was taking a meter reading at a vacant house when he heard the call for help come in over his radio.

"Our radios pick up a fire channel and I knew I wasn't far away," Beverly said. "I got in my truck and drove around the corner, that's when I could hear Korina screaming for help. I couldn't ignore it, and I just wanted to help."

Beverly is a veteran of the Oregon National Guard with deployments in Iraq and Kuwait as well as rescue operations in Louisiana after Hurricane Katrina, but he said it was city-required CPR training that kicked into high gear.

"You go through the training and see the videos and you wonder if you are going to remember it all. But it was amazing how instantaneous it was, it came back," Beverly said.

Beverly got Pam out of the chair and began doing compression-only CPR.

"It felt like an eternity, but the fire district medics got there and were able to hook up their compression machine," Beverly said.

Between Beverly's quick response and the Keizer Fire District crew, Pam was breathing again when she was

"She was this awesome down-to-earth, bohemian, loving woman," Navarro said.

Pam passed away not long afterward. Navarro called Beverly a week after the event to let him know what happened and to thank him for his quick action.

Beverly said he wouldn't change a thing, despite the final outcome.

"I'm sorry things didn't work out, but I did what I could and I was happy to help. I would do it again," he said.

Nancy Jean (Ferris) Baier

August 2, 1933 – June 29, 2019

Nancy Jean Baier, 85, left her family and friends on Saturday, June 29. She was born in Carroll, NE to Harry and Marie Ferris, the first of five children. Nancy grew up on a farm and taught school in the Carroll area. Nancy met the love of her life, Alfred Baier, Jr. at a skating rink in Wayne, NE and they married in 1952. They were married for 56 years when Al passed away. They welcomed a son, Darin, in 1966 and the three of them moved to Salem, OR in 1970.

In 1974, she moved to Keizer, where she lived until just before her passing.

Nancy encouraged Darin to play baseball, which became his passion. Darin became a successful player and teammate, one who could be counted on. According to Nancy, Darin fulfilled her life.

Nancy dedicated her life to educating children for over 60 years. She was influential in many lives as teacher and principal at Pioneer Country School, Gervais and Woodburn School Districts.

Nancy was an active member of Jason Lee Methodist Church and a servant of the Lord. Nancy loved reading books, baking and sewing. She loved her precious dogs Cindy, Cinnamon, Sneaker and Shadow.

Nancy will always be fondly remembered by her family and friends for her love, grace, strength and willingness to help everyone.

Nancy is survived by her son, Darin (Kathy) Baier, sister Karen (Les) Fisk, brothers Don (Catherine) Ferris, Marv (Dianne) Ferris, Bob (Apyrl) Ferris, and many nephews and nieces who loved and cared for her deeply. Nancy was preceded in death by her husband Al and infant son Troy.

In lieu of flowers, Nancy requested donations to the Willamette Humane Society in Salem in her memory.
